Five days of various activities have been planned by the Marion Christian Youth movement for next week in observance of national Youth week, which this year extends from Jan. 25 to Feb. 1. The program includes youth emphasis in services on both Sundays, and special activities have been arranged for Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

Present for a luncheon meeting Tuesday will be the national president of the United Christian Youth movement, interdenominational, of which the Marion organization is a part. Miss Kitty Kline of Kutztown, Pa., will be the luncheon speaker. Taking part in the activities of the week will be Richard Howard of Marion, president of the Ohio Christian Youth council. James Rea is local president.

Planned by the youth council, with cooperation of the adult advisory board, besides the luncheon meeting are a Winter Frolic event for children of the Silver Street school, to be conducted by representatives of M. C. Y. M. Thursday, a playnight event Friday for the older youth group of the organization, those beyond high school age, and a union service Sunday night, Feb. 1. The various denominations will give youth emphasis to services in their individual churches tomorrow. More details of these services appear today on The Star's church news page.

Providing a special period for interdenominational cooperation in programs of inspiration, worship, recreation and general activity is the aim and purpose of Youth week. It is part of a widespread emphasis in North America calling attention to what Christian young people are doing, and extending an open invitation to other young people "to line up in the Christian cause."

This Year's Theme

Youth week derives its theme and inspiration this year from the World Conference of Christian Youth which was held at Oslo, Norway, in July, 1947, which had as central idea "Jesus Christ Is Lord," and is looked on as a "channel for continuing Oslo and multiplying its power." A representative from Ohio to the Oslo conference, a young ministerial student, will speak at the union youth service here on Feb. 1. The attempt is to bring to the local observance the impact of the Oslo theme, which "found its way as a conviction in lives of hundreds of young people present and then to thousands who later came under the influence of the conference."

In Marion, M. C. Y. M. furnishes an opportunity for young people of various denominations to work and worship together. Each cooperating church has from one to three representatives on the M. C. Y. M. council, and the advisor or advisors of each denominational youth group is on the interdenominational advisory board. The council meets the second Monday of every month, and the advisory board meets once in two months and from time to time with the youth council when requested. Meetings are held usually at the Y.M.C.A.

List of Churches

Cooperating churches include First Presbyterian, Forest Lawn Presbyterian, Epworth, Wesley and Prospect Street Methodist, Calvary, First and Oakland Evangelical United Brethren, Trinity and Fite Memorial Baptist, St. Paul Episcopal, First and Salem Evangelical and Reformed, Central Christian, First Church of the Brethren, Lee Street Presbyterian, St. John Reformed, and Latter Day Saints.

MT. GILEAD LABOR DECISION DELAYED

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Jan. 24—A meeting yesterday forenoon between the independent union of the North Eectric Co. of Mt. Gilead and representatives of NLRB and company officials, concerning the union's petition for an election, resulted in no decision.

Decision is to be delayed because representatives of CIO-UAW would not agree to the validity of the claim of the independent group. The independent union petitioned NLRB some time ago for an election so that it could be the bargaining agent for employes of the Mt. Gilead plant. At yesterday's session, company officials and officials of the independent union agreed on an election, but the CIO group's failure to agree held up the decision of David Finley, NLRB's district representative out of Cleveland, on the matter. CIO indicated withholding of any statement to clarify its stand for several days.

There are CIO members in the plant, but the independent union claims majority membership. Among 208 workers, including office help, the independent union claims 170 pledges, according to the union president, Mrs. Earl Pinyerd. While waiting CIO notification as to whether it will finally agree to an election or not, Mr. Finley took pledge cards of the independent union to check against the union's membership claims. Should CIO not agree to an election, a formal hearing before NLRB will be necessary.

PROPOSES NEW RELIEF PLAN

Calls for Single Administrator with Status as Cabinet Member.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) made public today a new plan for handling the multi-billion dollar European recovery program "under a single administrator of cabinet status" in a new agency virtually free of any state department controls.

The plan was prepared by the Brookings Institution and Chairman Vandenberg asked members of his foreign relations committee to give it careful study, referring to the proposal as a "highly important service."

Chairman Vandenberg did not immedately indicate his acceptance of the Brookings proposals.

Summarizing its provisions Vandenberg said the administrator would have full control both in this country and abroad, subject only to reversal by the President.

Secretary of State Marshall would have the right to ask for information or question decisions but President Truman would umpire all disputes.

Secretary Marshall and other state department leaders have asked for the right to control and supervise all operations of the

Talk Turns To Vandenberg As Eisenhower Steps Out

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—Gen. Eisenhower's abrupt exit from the field of Republican presidential hopefuls started new talk of Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) as a potential dark horse nominee today.

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala) told a reporter:

"It looks like Eisenhower's withdrawal clears the way for Taft and Dewey to run a dead heat and for some third man to capture the Republican nomination. My guess is that the third man will be Vandenberg, if he will take it."

The Michigan senator has gone a long way toward removing himself from consideration. He has said he is convinced no man ever is drafted for the nomination without his connivance and he won't connive.

Vandenberg has observed, however, that no man could decline the nomination if it actually were thrust upon him.

Arthur Summerfield, Michigan national committeeman, said on a visit here this week he believes Michigan's vote will be cast for Vandenberg as "favorite son" at the national convention as long as there is any chance that he might be drawn into the contest.

Declines Comment

The senator smilingly declined comment today on the statement by Ensenhower that "I could not accept the nomination even under the remote circumstances that it were tendered me."

Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, announced candidates, were similarly silent.

The general's action seemed to leave a "draft Eisenhower" movement high and dry, but some diehard backers refused to give up.

Leonard V. Finder, New Hampshire publisher, declared in a radio address last night the nation can still draft the general. "The entire question is still up to the American people," said Finder. "No one can decide for them."

Difficult To Discourage

It was Finder to whom Eisenhower addressed the letter yesterday telling the voters to count him out.

Supporters in Oregon are going "right ahead" with plans to put his name on their state's Republican primary ballot, they said.

"This is a 'Draft Eisenhower' movement and I still think he can be drafted," declared Peter Alford, public relations representative of the group.

Eisenhower's consent is not necessary to place him on the Oregon ballot.

In California Assemblyman G. Delbert Morris told newsmen "unless he expressly repudiates us we still have the right to try to

YOUNG PLEADS "NOT GUILTY"

Appears in Court Briefly Today; Trial Date Not Yet Set.

A plea of "not guilty" to the charge of first degree murder was entered this morning for Edwin D. Young, arraigned in common pleas court on an indictment in connection with the death of Mrs. Zora Gerbes.

Paul D. Michel, court appointed attorney for Young waived the reading of the indictment, entered the plea and asked for a delay in setting the date for the trial.

Mr. Michel indicated that he would file a motion possibly Monday in connection with the trial. He did not elaborate on the nature of the motion, however.

May Ask Venue Change

A possibility exists that the defense may file for a change of venue to take the case out of the Marion county court in the light of the considerable notoriety the slaying of the Marion woman has received.

Young was brought into court by Sheriff LeRoy Retterer promptly at 10 a. m. He was clean shaven and in freshly laundered clothes. His tan cotton trousers were well creased, his light jacket equally presentable. The brown shoes he wore even showed evidence of a fresh pollish job.

He spoke to no one, before or during the arraignment. He did however confer briefly with Attorney Michel after the brief hearing had concluded.

50 Spectators Present

Approximately 50 spectators were present for the hearing. So quickly was it concluded however that those anticipating action found themselves listening to testimony in a divorce suit before they realized the arraignment of Young was over.

Sheriff Retterer reported that Young has had but one visitor since his being returned from Colorado Monday to stand trial. He has received no mail, other than the communications from religious societies. His visitor was the Marion man from whom Young had rented the trailer in which he lived while in Marion.

RECEPTION TO HONOR SUPT. HOLT SUNDAY

Public Invited to Program at Presbyterian Church.

The public reception honoring E. E. Holt, retiring superintendent of the Marion public schools, and Mrs. Holt, will be held Sunday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church under sponsorship of the Inter-Club Council. The reception program at 3 p. m. will be preceded by a half-hour recital of organ music by Mrs. Harry T. Williams, beginning at 2:30.

Rev. Howard L. Olewiler will give the tribute and Mr. Holt will follow with the response. The public response will be by Mayor Harry L. Dowler.

Special music will be presented by the Harding High school a cappella choir under the direction of L. G. Jones, vocal music supervisor in the city schools. The choir numbers will include "Almighty God of Our Fathers" by Will James, "A Dream With a Dream" by Henry P. Cross, and "Keep Your Lights Trimmed" by Noble Cain. Closing the program will be the choral benediction, "Lord Bless You and Keep You," by the a cappella choir and the benediction by Rev. Olewiler.

The reception will follow the program. This public event honoring Mr. and Mrs. Holt is for all the citizens of Marion and not just for members of the various service clubs belonging to the Inter-Club Council.

Members of the Inter-Club Council are the Exchange club, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis club, Lions club, Rotary club, Y's Men's club and the Altrusa club, which is an honorary member.

Mr. Holt will leave Feb. 1 to assume his new duties as superintendent of schools at Springfield.

Claims of 2 Colorado Officers Start Young Reward Contest

Possibility of a controversy between two Colorado peace officers over the $1,000 reward offered here for the arrest of Edwin D. Young appeared almost certain today.

The reward has been claimed by two officers of Prowers county, Colorado. The first claim was filed by Sheriff John Hodson, who more than a week ago recognized a photograph of Young as being the same man he was holding in jail under the name Roy E. Edwards.

Latest to file a claim is Ben H. Williams, Holly, Colo., marshal who arrested Young, alias Edwards, the morning of Jan. 6, near Holly.

In a letter received by The Star yesterday Williams threw additional light on the circumstances of Young's arrest.

He also enclosed a copy of a communication addressed to Marion county officials in which he laid claim to the entire $1,000 reward offered for Young's arrest.

Letter to Officials

The marshal's claim to the reward is contained in a communication addressed to Sheriff LeRoy Retterer, Prosecuting Attorney James E. Reed and the chairman of the Marion county commissioners.

Text of the claim follows:

"I, Ben H. Williams, as the arresting officer, hereby make claim for the entire amount of $1,000 reward offered for the apprehension of [illegible] Young, alias Roy E. Edwards, and others.

Plows Put in Use To Keep County Roads Clear.

Marion county and surrounding area were caught in a blizzard blanketing central and southern Ohio today.

The heavy snowfall followed one of the coldest nights of the winter when the mercury dipped to zero in Marion.

The temperature here had risen to 12 above at noon today as the snow continued to fall unabated.

A forecast of mostly cloudy today and not so cold tonight with still more snow for this area promised.

Portsmouth, where 6½ inches of snow fell in five hours, described the blizzard as the worst snowstorm since Jan. 26, 1943, when the city was under nine inches of snow.

The storm appeared to be moving northward and the weather bureau predicted the snow would continue into the evening and reach Lake Erie by night, an Associated Press report stated. Southeastern Ohio received a blanket of four inches of snow in the first four hours of the storm.

Marion recorded 1½ inches of snowfall by noon today.

Road and Street Situation

A check of Marion conditions brought the information that city crews were salting hills and intersections at traffic lights.

A state highway spokesman said that on state highways the snow was blowing across and piling up behind trees and ridges. Snow plows were proceeding in all directions out of Marion to combat drifts. Ash crews had not been called into action as yet, as reports did not indicate highways to be slippery.

County road crews are standing by for service if needed. Slight drifts were forming on some county roads, but the latest report indicated all roads passable. Local bus arrivals, especially from the south, were running late.

Zero Last Night

The mercury dipped to the zero level here last night after rising only to a high of 12 throughout yesterday. At 8 this morning it was 10 above, and the snow which continued all morning started to fall about that time.

A year ago on this date thermometers here stood at a high of 35 and a low of 22.

Gas Emergency On

The public gas emergency, called yesterday by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., which supplies Marion and vicinity, one of the state's largest purveyors of fuel gas, still operated and 178 central Ohio industries came under the 100 per cent curtailment program.

As the temperatures tumbled, students at Bowling Green university ran into tough luck. Two of the three boilers in the school's central heating plant gave out, leaving most of the school's buildings under a steam ration plan.

Women students living in nearby cities were invited by university authorities to spend the weekend at home.

Low Mark Hit

Temperatures in the chilled central states of the country still ranged to as low as 33 below during the night but they were to start climbing today.

In the east and the south the forecasts were for colder weather and the thermometer fell rapidly in many areas, including the New England states and in central Texas. There were heavy falls of snow in parts of Kentucky and snow, sleet and rain in Alabama, Louisiana, the Carolinas and Mississippi.

The mercury skidded to more than 20 below in the lower Hudson valley in New York state today and was -20 at Utica, N. Y.

New York City experienced its coldest morning of the winter season when the thermometer registered 6 above after a high of 20 yesterday.

The coldest spot in the Arctic midwest area today was Land O'Lakes, Wis., with a reading of 33 below.

TWO SHOT IN TRAIN BATTLE

Gun Wielding Passenger Runs Amuck; Woman and Flagman Injured.

By The Associated Press

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Jan. 24—A woman passenger and a railroad trainman were felled by pistol shots during an hour of terror in a coach of a Cleveland-to-Pittsburgh passenger train last night.

A 25-year-old Cleveland youth was finally subdued by other passengers as a flagman, his left leg ripped by a shot, jerked an emergency cord to stop the Pennsylvania railroad flyer at this western Pennsylvania community.

Mrs. Mary Refici, 29, of Cleveland was reported in critical condition in Sewickley Valley hospital with a .25 caliber bullet in her abdomen. Her husband, Sam, was one of the men who helped overcome the assailant. The wounded train man was Ira M. Crider, 53, of Freedom, Pa.

Gun Wielder Identified

Police Sgt. Walter Rosiak identified the pistol-wielder as Kenneth Short, a Negro, and said he had been jailed on a charge of assault with intent in kill.

Rosiak quoted the youth as saying:

"Take it easy with me. I have brothers and sisters and other relatives in Cleveland and they are going to suffer by me. I did no wrong."

Rosiak pieced together this version of the terrifying hour's ride:

G. E. Walker, 45, of Pittsburgh, said the youth sitting beside him had been drinking from time to time from a bottle filled with some dark liquid. Suddenly, he pulled a gun, rammed it into Walker's ribs, and began muttering threats.

Suddenly Starts Shooting

Walker said he sat motionless for fully 45 minutes, along with other passengers. Then the youth suddenly whirled, leaned over the seat back of him and fired the gun. This was apparently the shot which struck Mrs. Refici.

Screams pierced the car. Crider reached for the emergency cord and dropped to the floor with his wound.

Refici, J. J. Hoffer, of Monaca, Pa., and others then seized the assailant.

German Girl Has Dim Hope of Claiming Fortune

BERLIN, Jan. 24—Red-haired Ursula Bauer sat in her cold flat in north Berlin today and expressed the forlorn hope she might obtain a visa to enter the United States and stake her claim to a fortune which is in litigation in Philadelphia.

Miss Bauer, who is 23 and a secretary, yesterday had a day of glory as a "dollar princess" in Berlin newspapers, which reported her claim that she was heiress to a fortune left by a great-aunt who died in the U. S. Berlin newspapers said Miss Bauer had been notified the fortune is worth $18,750,000.

As evidence she presented a one-year-old notice from the orphans court in Philadelphia asking her to attend a hearing of "your claim of alleged relationship to Henrietta E. Garrett," whose estate is in litigation.

F. A. Lane, U. S. consul general here, said Miss Bauer's chances of getting a U. S. visa are slim, since certification from the American military government that her trip would be "in the national interest" would be required.

SIX GUNMEN ROB COLUMBUS RITZ CLUB

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 24 — Six gunmen cleaned out the Ritz club —and its customers—late yesterday and took an estimated $35,000 from the gambling establishment.

Sheriff Ralph J. Paul estimated "about 40" customers were engaged at the gambling devices when the bandits walked in and began a systematic "shake-down" of the place.

While the leader stood at a door and directed operations, his companions lined up the patrons at a wall and made them throw their purses, wallets and jewelry on a table. The money then was dumped into a sack.

"Shoot anyone who moves." the leader ordered.

Men were prodded with pistols and when a women protested she couldn't get her ring off, the gang leader snapped to an aide, "shoot it off." The aide didn't.

The gunmen continually razzed the women:

The gunmen consumed at least 20 minutes in the holdup. After which they fled in an automobile.

Then the sheriff took Joseph T. Gehring and Gene Neff, alleged operators of the establishment, to a justice of the peace and they were fined $100 each for operating a race book.

FREE-SPENDING BOYS HELD

By The Associated Press

NASHVILLE, Ga., Jan. 24—Two high school students with more spending money than police thought 16-year-old boys should have were in jail today on charges of stealing $18,000 in cash from a wealthy farmer. Sheriff N. N. Hughes identified the youths as Laneth Rentz and Harry McRanie, and said both were being held on burglary warrants. A third youth, likewise, 16, is being sought, he added.

TYMOCHTEE FARMER FATALLY BURNED

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Jan. 24—Arthur Moes, 57, of Tymochtee, and formerly of Seneca county, was fatally burned in a fire at the Charles M. Humes home in McCutchenville, Friday morning.

Sheriff B. H. Stansbery and Coroner J A. Propst were summoned to the Humes home to investigate. It was indicated that a verdict of death by accidental burning would be returned by Dr. Propst.

Moes had gone to the Humes home for an overnight visit and was asleep on a mattress placed near the stove, when the bedding suddenly caught fire. Overcome by the fumes, he apparently made no attempt to escape. A companion, aroused by a barking dog, rushed from the building and pulled Moes and the bedding out of the structure, but not before all of the victim's clothes had been totally destroyed.

The body was removed to the Bringman & Co. funeral home in Upper Sandusky and later taken to the Huffman Memorial Home at Tiffin, where funeral arrangements are being made.

Mr. Moes, a farmer, had been working in the Tymochtee community. He was the son of Peter and Helen LaFontaine Moes. He is survived by three brothers, Ross and Irvin Moes, of New Riegel, and Albert Moes, of Tiffin, and two sisters, Mrs. Elmer Karch, of New Riegel, and Mrs. Helen Miller of Piqua.

Eisenhower in Lead In "Favorite" Polls

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was leading both the Fortune and Gallup presidential polls when he announced yesterday his withdrawal "from the political scene."

The latest Fortune survey of public opinion, made public last night, showed the general to be the only one of six possible Republican candidates for the presidency who would be favored over President Truman if the race were held now.

The survey, conducted by Elmo Roper shortly before Henry A. Wallace announced his third party candidacy, showed that 48 per cent of the persons canvassed favored Eisenhower and 34 per cent President Truman, with the others undecided.

The comparable figures for other possible GOP contenders, against Truman, were:

Truman (43) vs. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey (40).

Truman (42) vs. Gen. Douglas MacArthur (38).

Truman (40) vs. Harold E Stassen (36).

Truman (42) vs. Gov. Earl Warren (31).

Truman (52) vs. Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) (27).

Dr. George Gallup, institute director, said the persons polled expressed preference as follows

In a Truman-Eisenhower-Wallace race: Truman, 40 per cent; Eisenhower, 47, and Wallace 6.

In a Truman-Dewey-Wallace race: Truman, 46 per cent; Dewey 41, and Wallace 7.

In a Truman - Taft - Wallace race: Truman 51 per cent; Taft 31, and Wallace 8.

GROCERY STORE FIRE CAUSES $5,000 LOSS

Believed Started by Blow Torch Used To Thaw Pipes.

A fire at Earl Reed's grocery store at 473 North Greenwood street at 11:23 p. m. Friday night, resulting in an estimated $5,000 damage to the building and grocery supplies, was quenched by firemen from Central and Mark street stations, Fire Chief Owen Sifritt reported.

The fire, which originated beneath the bathroom floor, was thought to have started from a spark smoldering when Mr. Reed closed his store at 6:15 p. m. George Miller, who lives in a back room of the store, had been using a blow torch to thaw out frozen water pipes leading to the bathroom at 5 p. m., Mr. Reed said.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Martin of Adams street, who were returning from the theater, turned in the alarm to the fire department when they noticed the flames as they passed by the store walking toward Adams street. Another alarm was turned by an an unidentified guard from the Huber Mfg. Co.

Mr. Reed said that it would be approximately a week before he could open his store, as all of his supplies would be sold for salvage and a little time would be needed to get a new supply of meats and canned goods.

KAY FRANCIS ON MEND IN COLUMBUS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 24—Actress Kay Francis continued today to gain on an "upper respiratory infection" which forced her from the stage of the Hartman theater to an oxygen tent in White Cross hospital.

The 43-year-old star of stage and screen collapsed yesterday from what detectives said was an overdose of sleeping pills and under circumstances which led police to detain her stage manager for five hours while they investigated.

As the hulabaloo over her collapse subsided, Dr. Maurice B Rosoff, her physician, said she was 'seriously, but not critically ill" from what he described as an "upper respiratory infection." He would not elaborate.

The play "State of the Union," in which Miss Francis had been playing, went on last night with Erin O'Brien-Moore doing the honors after a hurried plane flight from New York.

Police released Miss Francis' stage manager, 37-year-old Howard Graham, after she regained consciousness and confirmed his story of what happened to her.

Graham was taken into custody at White Cross hospital when police found Miss Francis had received second degree burns on her legs — burns they later decided came from radiators in her hote room during a fainting spell.

A featured player in the "State of the Union" cast reported argument was necessary to convince the stricken actress she must remain off the boards for an indefinite period.

"I've got to get to the theater to play that part tonight," she was quoted as saying yesterday when she regained consciousness after several hours.

of Granada, Colo., and was issued for short checks signed by Roy Edwards and at a hearing in justice court of C. D. Thompson on Jan. 7, 1948, at 5 o'clock this man pleaded guilty and was bound over to the district court in Prowers county, Colorado

"On or about Jan. 15, 1948 Sheriff John Hodson of Prowers county, Lamar, Colo, received a poster offering a reward of $1,000 for the apprehension of Edward Demoine Young, who is one and the same man I arrested as Roy Edwards, and I hereby make claim for the entire $1,000 offered for his apprehension as I apprehended, arrested and took him into custody."

The claim was signed: Ben H Williams, constable, J. P. precinct No. 3, Prowers county; marshal town of Holly, Colo.

In his letter to The Star. Marshal Williams said he received the warrant about 8 p m Jan. 5 and that at 2 a. m. the following day he located Young and his school teacher bride parked in Young's car about a mile and a half from Holly.

"It looked like they had been trying to sleep," he said. "Young was unarmed at the time and offered no resistance. He was taken to Holly, Colo., and placed in jail. They (Young and his bride) were in his Chevrolet coupe but her (Young's wife) license plates, 17-3686-Colorado, on the car Later the Ohio license Q-4846 was put back on the car and was on it when the Marion officers arrived here," Williams concluded.

It was only a matter of conjecture today as to how the reward matter finally would be settled The money did not come from public funds, but from personal contributions by Prosecutor Reed and Sheriff Retterer and public solicitation conducted by Lee Kellis, stepfather of Mrs. Gerbes. whom Young has confessed killing.

Attorney Carter M. Patton is custodian of the fund. He said, however, that the question of its distribution will be left to the common pleas court.

LIMA, O., Jan. 24—Two men were killed in separate train-automobile crashes in the last 24 hours at grade crossings between Lima and Delphos.

Wilbur R. Nichols, 47, of Lima, died five hours after his laundry truck was struck by an eastbound Pennsylvania railroad passenger train yesterday afternoon.

Thomas A. Paul, 67, of Fort Jennings, was killed at 7:30 a. m. today when his car was struck by another eastbound Pennsylvania passenger train.

STRIKE AT GERMAN BLACK MARKETING

By The Associated Press

MUNICH, Germany, Jan. 24 — The German economic council of the British and American zones —spurred by a 24-hour hunger strike by 1,000,000 Bavarians— took steps today to wipe out black marketing and food hoarding and thus increase rations.

The Bavarian state government in the U. S. zone announced it would wage a similar drive and called on trade unions and farmers' associations to help divert food from illegal channels into a common rationing pool.

The bizonal council, in the severest law in its six months' existence, decreed that all farmers and food handlers must report their complete stocks. Food not reported can be confiscated under the new law and fines up to $3,000 can be levied for false reports.

The lone Communist delegate was the only council member to oppose the measure

(Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor, said in Washington the U. S. Army intends to step up the German basic ration from 1,550 calories a day to 1,800 by July 1).

The strike, which gripped 26 major cities and many towns in the American zone yesterday, paralyzed communications, industry and most trade. It ended at midnight.

Marked by mass demonstrations and scattered incidents, including angry shouts against "well-fed Americans," the walkout was nevertheless orderly in general.

Communists who supported the strike played a prominent part in the demonstrations with their red banners.

ARMY DENIES CHARGE OF PRISON BRUTALITY

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA, Jan. 24 — Despite an Army denial, three civilian investigators insisted today prisoners at Camp Gordon, Ga., were "butted" by an officer, thrown into solitary confinement for failing to eat all their food, and suffered from a "fear psychosis."

A minister, a newspaper editor and an American Legionnaire from Augusta were invited to inspect the Camp Gordon disciplinary barracks nearby after the Miami, Fla., Herald printed charges of "savage brutality."

Third Army headquarters yesterday in a report of its inspector general, Col. S. F. Griswold, asserted the charges were "wholly unsuostantiated." Shortly thereafter, the civilians issued a statement at Augusta disputing Griswold on several points.

CIO VOTES DOWN BID TO SUPPORT WALLACE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—A CIO spokesman asked congress today not to let rents increase in a price situation which he said already is causing the CIO to seek a new wage boost.

Donald Montgomery, chief of the Washington office of the United Auto Workers union, told a senate banking subcommittee he spoke for the CIO in urging a 28-month extension of rent controls—to June 30, 1950.

Montgomery also proposed to the subcommittee considering the rent control law that congress wipe out all 15 per cent "voluntary" rent increases allowed under the present statute.

"You must not add rent increases on top of the outrageous rise in prices of other necessities," Montgomery told senators.

Montgomery contended "congress completely misjudged the housing situation in June, 1947. when it weakened the rent control law and deprived the administrator of power to enforce rent ceilings or to protect tenants against extortion."

The present federal rent control act expires Feb. 29. The subcommittee, headed by Senator Cain (R-Wash), will hold one more week of hearings on the question what to do next.

Yesterday the AFL presented its program for extending rent controls.

Weak Radio Signals Believed from Plane

By The Associated Press

DENVER, Jan. 24—Radio signals heard faintly from a frozen, snow encrusted wilderness high in the Rocky Mountains 35 miles northwest of Denver spurred the search today for a government C-47 plans missing since Wednesday night with three men aboard.

J. Chester Shimp, Kansas City Mo., senior airways inspector for the civil aeronautics administration, said he heard the signals yesterday while flying alone. Two CAA employes also reported hearing the weak signals.

"Donald got his first newspaper job in Hong Kong because he was a teetotaler," said "That was what the edi- he paper that hired him king for. He never took of liquor in his life, and two favorite sayings—he fastest who travels alone, and he travels fastest who travels dry."

The young reporter traveled far—far enough to become a legendary figure in the land of the lotus. He began as an advisor to a viceroy in the corrupt Manchu regime, switched to the revolutionary banner of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, the idealistic "father of modern China," directed artillery fire that battered in the gates of Nanking, and became the advisor of Chiang Kai-shek and Madame Chiang.

The Japanese hated him and called him "the Evil Spirit of China."

"Donald alone is responsible for the worldwide sympathy that came to China and the Chiangs in the fight against Japan," he said.

"His success—and history alone will show the full extent of his influence—was due to the fact he was the one man in China all factions could count on for complete honesty," Selle continued.

"He ALSO REFUSED to learn a word of the Chinese language or even to eat Chinese food. He didn't like the food and he decided early that if he never learned the language the Chinese around him in conferences could talk among themselves better and without embarrassment.

"His sole diplomatic principle was to give advice but never argue."

In 1940 Donald fell out with the Chiangs—Selle says it was because of disgust over official corruption in Kuomintang high circles and the refusal of Chiang at that time to deliver speeches Donald had written attacking Hitler.

The next year the Chiangs appealed to him to return. Impatient at the delay in getting an air priority at Honolulu, Donald sailed on freighter, which put in at Manila after Pearl Harbor was bombed.

DONALD WAS INTERNED with the fall of the Philippines, and although the Japanese police came to the camp searching for him—he would have been a major prize—the commandant managed to shelter him.

Released at war's end, the Australian was taken to a Honolulu hospital where he was found to be dying of lung cancer. For twenty-five years he had refused huge sums to write his memoirs. But lying on his hospital bed he decided to tell his story, and dictated it to a stenographer brought by Selle, who has made it into a book to be published next month.

Knowing Donald's wish to die in his adopted land although the sick man refused to appeal to the Chiangs, Selle sent word to them. They arranged a special flight and Donald was flown to Shanghai, where he died in November, 1946.

Russia Responds To Proposal by Bevin

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 24—The first Soviet pronouncement on the British proposal for a west European alliance is that the apparent aim is to get agreement on a western German state.

The proposal was made by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in the house of commons Thursday. It was supported by Winston Churchill, opposition leader, in further debate yesterday.

Tass, official Soviet news agency, said in a Paris dispatch last night the object of the plan "apparently" was to win the support of France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg "for the creation of a western German state." Bevin had invited these nations to join the alliance.

GIRL KILLED IN COLLISION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON C. H., O., Jan. 24—Mrs. Mary Watson, 16, Dayton, was killed and six other persons injured last night in a two-car head-on collision on U. S. route 35, five miles south of Washington C. H.

Global Scene

By DeWitt Mackenzie

WINSTON CHURCHILL, Britain's famous war-time prime minister and leader of her great Conservative party, yesterday threw his powerful support behind Socialist Foreign Secretary Bevin's proposal for a consolidation of western European nations to block Communist expansion westward, thereby increasing hope of averting another world conflict, or at least postponing it.

This project, as I see it, would ipso facto complement perfectly the Marshall plan for economic rehabilitation of western Europe. To use the language of the independent Paris newspaper Matin, the countries of this area would "be united politically, economically and militarily."

MACKENZIE

It is of course natural for Churchill to back up Bevin's project, for the former long has advocated a United States of Europe, dream of generations of peace-minded statesmen. The conservative leader spoke bluntly, and in dealing with the dangers of another war declared that the situation had deteriorated, especially in the last six months.

"I will only venture now to say," he continued, "that there seems to be a very real danger in going on drifting too long. It is idle to reason or argue with Communists. It is, however, possible to deal with them on a realistic basis. * * *

"I believe it is right to say that the best chance of avoiding war is an accord with the other western democracies to bring matters to a head with the Soviet government and by formal diplomatic processes, with all their privacy and gravity, to arrive at a lasting settlement. Even this measure would not guarantee that war would not come. But I believe it would give the best chance of preventing it and, if it came, we would have the best chance of coming out of it alive."

SOCIALIST PRIME MINISTER Attlee, who followed Churchill in debate in the house of commons, dealt with the proposal of a union of western European nations rather more conservatively. He counseled a careful approach to the idea, asserting that it should be done under the larger unity of the United Nations. He said he didn't believe war was imminent, but added that "there is no good shutting our eyes to the possibility."

Bevin's proposal thus far has had warm support from both France and Italy, and has been received favorably though cautiously by leaders in Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—the so-called Benelux custom combine. Government sources in Switzerland, which is traditionally neutral, aren't enthusiastic about joining what is described as a "bloc." Sweden, Norway and Denmark will register their views later, but the Scandinavian countries long have made it clear that they don't wish to antagonize Russia.

IN ANALYZING THE significance of the British move we must keep in mind these points, which this column has emphasized repeatedly: if Russia isn't held on the line which she now has reached through central Europe, war is inevitable, and the only way she can be held is by a physical barrier, since she isn't susceptible to moral influence. The Marshall plan would give western Europe the strength to defend itself, and so would provide a material barrier. The union of western European countries certainly would strengthen the Marshall plan greatly and might in itself be able before long to provide defense against further Communist aggression.

And if the Bolshevists can be held where they now stand, it may be possible, as Churchill points out, to reach a practical settlement. How long might that last? Well, Churchill says:

"In my experience they (the Communists) will keep their bargain as long as it is in their interests to do so, which might in this great matter be a long time, once things were settled."

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT A. O'CONNOR of 480 Elmwood Drive announce the marriage of Mrs. O'Connor's sister, Miss Margaret Harlow of King Avenue, Vernon Heights, to Robert H. Naylor of Akron, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Naylor of Boston, Massachusetts.

The marriage ceremony was solemnized at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the rectory of St. Mary Catholic church by the pastor, Very Rev. Father William J. Spickerman, V. F.

For her marriage, Miss Harlow, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Harlow, chose a Baron Peters blue crepe two-piece dress suit, with which she wore a rose floral trimmed hat with shew tulle, brown shoes and gloves and a purple-throated brown orchid.

Mrs. O'Connor, who attended her sister as matron of honor, wore a beige faille two-piece dress suit with a brown hat and accessories, and a pink camellia. Mr. O'Connor served Mr. Naylor as best man.

Following the ceremony, a breakfast for the wedding party was given at Hotel Harding by Mr. and Mrs. Jay H. Maish. Immediately after the breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Naylor left on a short wedding trip, Mrs. Naylor wearing a brown fur coat over her wedding suit.

Mrs. Naylor will return to Marion for a short stay before joining Mr. Naylor in their home at 70 Manor Road in Akron.

A graduate of St. Mary Parochial High School, Mrs. Naylor is secretary and assistant treasurer of The Jay H. Maish Company, with which she has been associated since it was incorporated, and for the last seven years she has been a member of the board of directors of the company.

Mr. Naylor attended schools in Boston and since graduating from the Bentley School of Finance and Accounting there he has been with the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company of Akron, as assistant general credit manager. In World War II he was a lieutenant commander in the U. S. Navy, with which he served for three and one-half years.

Mrs. Ethel Marie Shroats was hostess to the Les Amies club Tuesday evening at the A. M. Owings residence on the Green Camp-Owens road. The new members, Misses Helen and Martha Loyer, were welcomed into the group. During the social hour, hearts were played with honors going to Mrs. Naomi Spicer. The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Nell Roberts and Mrs. Owings, who was a guest.

The custom of open church will be observed for the wedding Sunday of Miss Catherine Ellen Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Phillips of 701 Wood street, and Robert E. Dodrill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dodrill of near Prospect. The ceremony will be performed at Wesley Methodist church at 4 p. m. by the pastor, Dr. Edwin A. Brown. A reception in the church social rooms will follow the ceremony with invited guests attending.

DANCE DATE CHANGED

A change in the date for the inauguration dance to be held by the Ess-Dee Dance club next week was announced by the officers today. Due to conflicting dates the dance will be held Saturday night, Jan. 31, instead of Jan. 29 as previously scheduled. Officers will be installed.

Concert Season Opening Scheduled Next Week

DOROTHY KIRSTEN

EUGENE CONLEY

The first program of the 1948-49 concert series sponsored by the Marion Community Concert association will be heard Wednesday night, Jan. 28, when Dorothy Kirsten, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Co. and Eugene Conley, tenor, will appear in a joint recital at the Palace theater.

Miss Kirsten will add to her repertoire this year the role of "Louise" in Charpentier's opera of that name and her program here will include the aria, "Depuis le jour," from the opera.

Two Guest Artists

Born in New Jersey of a musical family, Miss Kirsten's study of singing in Italy was interrupted by the war so that her career is largely American. She made her debut with the Chicago Opera company in "La Boheme," and has sung widely throughout the United States, Mexico and Canada with leading opera companies. She has had several radio series of her own and been a frequent guest star on network productions.

Mr. Conley is a native of Massachusetts, where he began his musical career as soloist with the High School Glee club and quartet, in the local churches and radio stations and on tour with the Boston Male Choir. Following his local successes, he was engaged as staff artist in more than 100 USO performances of "Winged Victory," and has sung with the foremost opera companies in the United States and Mexico. Most recently he won great acclaim on the event of his debut with the Paris Opera Comique singing "La Boheme" and "La Traviata."

Program Selections

Mr. Conley will open the program with two arias, "Recondita armonia," from Puccini's "Tosca," and "Il mio tesoro intanto" from "Don Giovanni," by Mozart.

Miss Kirsten's first group will include "Care Selve," Handel, "Se tu m'ami," Pergolesi, "The Nightingale and the Rose," Rimsky-Korsakoff, and an aria, Gavotte from "Manon," Massenet.

Miss Kirsten and Mr. Conley will sing a duet, "O soave fanciulla," from Act 1 of Puccini's "La Boheme," to close the first half of the program.

The aria from "Louise" by Miss Kirsten will follow the intermission and Mr. Conley will sing a group of numbers, "Ah, Moon of My Delight," from "In a Persian Garden," by Lehmann, "Swans," Kramer, "Finnegan's Wake," by Bone and Fenton and "Beloved," adapted from Rubenstein's "Romance," by Conley-Frank.

The duet, "Vogliatemi bene," from "Madame Butterfly," by Puccini, will be sung by Miss Kirsten and Mr. Conley to close the program.

recovery program but suggested a separate administrator.

The new operating plan was handed to senators as Paul Porter, former price control administrator, predicted that the United States will be forced to control wages, prices, credit, meat and essential materials as part of the European aid plan.

The committee has before it a proposal to authorize $6,800,000,000 expenditures for the opening 15 months of the recovery program.

In outlining the new operating plan prepared by the private research organization, Vandenberg said the proposed new agency "should have a non-corporate form" and the administrator "should have wide latitudes of discretion."

He would be advised by a board composed of eminent citizens" but the administrator would make decisions about how much aid would go to various nations what products they receive and whether these would be grants or loans.

RS. CORRIGAN URIAL TODAY

es in Cleveland for Fabu- ous Entertainer and Steel Executive's Widow.

By The Associated Press

LEVELAND, O., Jan. 24—Mrs. a Mae Corrigan, 60, a Wis- gardener's daughter who ed her husband's steel for- e and became a society leader London and Paris, was to be ed here today with funeral ces a family spokesman said ld be "very private and et."

Mrs. Corrigan died in New k City Thursday, exactly 20 ars after death of her second sband, James W. Corrigan, mer president of the Corrigan, cKinney Steel Co., now merged h Republic Steel Corp.

Shortly after the first World r, Mrs. Corrigan went abroad d during the '20s and '30s her amazing social career, mainly in England, were widely publicized. She entertained lavishly and gave expensive presents to long lists of guests. Among her friends she counted the former Duchess of York, now Queen Elizabeth.

Had Huge Income

Before the second World War Mrs. Corrigan had an income of $800,000 a year, derived from sale of $21,000,000 worth of stock in the Corrigan, McKinney Steel Co. which her husband's father founded.

But during hostilities, the U. S. state department allowed her only $500 a month and she financed extensive war welfare work largely from sale of jewels, tapestries and furniture, spending an estimated $400,000.

In 1939 she was in Paris and the following year when the Germans began their invasion of France she went to Vichy and later escaped to London through Portugal.

In 1939 she organized Labien Venue, a group of French women war workers who aided refugees and sent gifts to troops. For this and other endeavors, the French government awarded her the Croix de Guerre, the Legion of Honor and the Croix du Combattant, the family spokesman said, adding she was the only woman to receive the latter medal.

Decorated by King

For her war work in England she received the king's medal from the British government, her family said.

Although the Corrigans left Cleveland shortly after their marriage in 1917, they returned in 1925 when Corrigan, in a dramatic directors' meeting, regained financial control of Corrigan, McKinney, then in charge of the late Price McKinney, a young bookkeeper in whom the elder Corrigan placed confidence.

Corrigan remained in Cleveland, but his wife returned to Europe and last visited here in 1930.

The couple had no children, and Mrs. Corrigan is survived only by a sister, Mrs. David Armstrong-Taylor, and a nephew, Duncan Armstrong-Taylor of San Francisco.

Gold Strike in California 100 Years Ago Today Is Headache To John Sutter's Kin

By The Associated Press

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 24—One hundred years ago today gold was discovered in California on the extensive lands of John Augustus Sutter, adventurer, pioneer businessman and colonizer. The event, according to some historians, changed the course of civilization and American history.

But today his great grandson Howard Joseph Sutter Hull, 70, will talk about almost anything but gold.

"Gold, gold, gold—that's all I've heard all my life," says Hull. "I don't want to hear anything more about it."

Tall, erect and with a twinkle in his steel gray eyes, Hull bears some resemblance to a painting of his enterprising forebear. Formerly an importer, he is now retired. His story contains many unrecorded tales. But let's start at the beginning—

When gold was discovered in digging a mill race for Sutter's prosperous settlement, Sutter's son, John Jr., was serving with the diplomatic service in Mexico. Unable to find educational opportunities for his children, John Jr. decided to send his son and daughter to their grandfather.

Secret Failed To Keep

By the time the children arrived in California misfortune already had overtaken the colonizer. He had tried to keep the gold strike a secret, but his property was soon overrun with gold seekers. Even worse, the government claimed that he had no right to the land on which the gold was found and the supreme court ruled invalid the title to 98,000 acres of his holdings. The farmhouse where he lived was leveled by fire.

Sutter, a Swiss, settled in California in 1838 and became a citizen of Mexico when he received a grant of 49,000 acres on the Sacramento river on condition he would build a strong outpost there for the Mexican government.

Wealthy until his title was held invalid, he soon became bankrupt. However, he had paid $30,000 in taxes to the new state of California and the state undertook to repay this in yearly installments.

With that money, Sutter, his wife and grandchildren headed eastward for nearby Lititz, Lancaster county, Pa., where the Linden Hall Seminary for girls and the Beck School for boys were located. The family settled down in Lititz and there the granddaughter Ann entered school. Later she married Harry C. Hull and perpetuated the family in Lancaster county.

Her son describes how she once outwitted congress. After Sutter's death congress, which annually had rejected his claims for reimbursement for his lost lands, decided it should do something to pay tribute to the memory of the pioneer and voted to place a solid marble fence, seven feet high, around his grave in Lititz.

But the idea of a seven-foot fence around the grave didn't appeal to Mrs. Hull. When the time came to erect it, Mrs. Hull ordered workmen to dig a trench six feet deep around her grandfather's resting place. That complete, she ordered them to start building the fence at the bottom of the excavation. So—today the congressional fence around Sutter's grave is six feet underground and one foot above the surface, whatever congress had intended.

There are several stories about Sutter's death, but his great grandson tells the family version. While the old man lived in Lititz he made frequent trips to Washington to press his claims for repayment by congress.

At one stage of the annual debate it appeared that congress was about willing to admit an error and repay him. Here a Lancaster county congressman entered the picture. As the bill neared a vote he made a lengthy speech on Sutter's behalf. It was so lengthy, in fact that congress became weary of further listening and adjourned without taking action on the measure.

General William T. Sherman, famous for his march to the sea, called on Sutter to inform him that the bill had not passed. The great grandson says that Sutter fell dead when he heard the news. That was in June, 1880, 32 years after the historic California discovery.

Through the years many attempts have been made to have congress pay to his heirs the money which many believe was rightfully owed to the colorful old pioneer. That's the talk Hull has heard for over a half century and that's why he's tired of hearing talk about California's gold.

L. M. FRANCIS IN LAW PARTNERSHIP IN FLORIDA

Lewis M. Francis of Stuart Fla., former Marion attorney, has joined in a partnership with T. T. Oughterson of that city. The firm will be known as Oughterson and Francis.

Mr. Francis, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Francis of Harding Highway W, has been making his home in Florida since his discharge from the Navy. He studied in the office of Mr. Oughterson and following his admission to the Florida bar was associated with him in the practice of law until becoming a partner. The firm's offices are in the Oughterson building in Stuart.

Mr. Francis entered the U. S. Naval service in April, 1942, following nine years of practice here. During his four and one-half years of service in the legal department of the Navy he was stationed at the U. S. Naval Air station at Pensacola, Fla., Camp Eliott, San Diego, Calif., U. S. Naval Operating base at Okinawa and the Philippines Sea Frontier, Manila. He was discharged with the rank of lieutenant commander.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis and their son, Lewis Marsh, make their home in Stuart.

INITIATION HELD

Ten candidates for membership were initiated by the Pocahontas degree team at a meeting of Minnetonka Council No. 24, Degree of Pocahontas, Thursday night in the Democratic hall. Four of these candidates were men, enrolled for the Red Men lodge. The charter was draped for Mrs. Edna Balderson of Upper Sandusky. Mrs. Lois Young, new pocahontas, presided. Guests included Virgil Phillips, great senior sagamore, D. H. Hoffman, great junior sagamore, and Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. Ora Thompson, great Minnie-Ha-Ha elect, and her sister, Ruth, all of Columbus. A potluck supper was served following the meeting with Mrs. Donna Thomas in charge, assisted by her committee.

Initiation Plans Made By Legion Auxiliary

Final plans were made for initiation of a class of candidates to be held Monday night, Feb. 9 when the Auxiliary to Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, met Friday night in the Legion Dugout. Mrs. Gail W. Baldwin of Marysville, Sixth district president, will preside as installing officer and 35 candidates will be initiated in the class. Members of the Legion post will be guests. A drill practice in preparation for the initiation followed.

The auxiliary decided to send a gift to Charles Howard, a post member, who is seriously ill in City hospital, and also to other post members in the hospital. This being legislative month, Mrs. W. E. Orcutt, legislative chairman, reviewed two bills which are to be introduced in the house and senate this year. One is the universal military training bill and the other the veterans homestead act of 1948. The latter was drawn up by the American Legion and designed to provide the average veteran with a means to secure housing within his means of payment.

Wheelbarrow load of dead rats

Imagine—a wheelbarrow load! That's what a farmer picked up after he'd baited the premises with Anturat, the new, modern Dr. Hess rat killer.

Anturat is made especially for farm use. Its killing agent is one whose unusual properties as a rat killer were discovered during the war. Anturat is less toxic to livestock and poultry than most commonly used rat poisons.

Anturat can be used either as a baiting poison or a tracking poison. To use it as a tracking poison, you just sprinkle it in rat holes and runs. [illegible]

Reasons for a Notable Tribute

SUNDAY afternoon in the First Presbyterian church a public reception will honor Superintendent of Schools E. E. Holt, who will be leaving soon to become superintendent at Springfield.

This tribute has few precedents in Marion's history and thus is indicative of the extraordinary high regard in which Mr. Holt is held by people of the community. It is evidence of deeply grateful appreciation for duties ably and conscientiously performed in what is probably the most important branch of public service, that of training and guiding future citizens, and also for active interest and valuable participation in religious, civic and cultural affairs vital to the progress of Marion and the welfare of its people.

It seems hardly necessary to add that the personal qualities of the man are outstanding among the reasons for this unusual public expression of esteem and affection. Many other persons in various occupations and professions have done important work in the community, have received recognition for it, and those who moved on to other localities have taken with them Marion's thanks and cordial good wishes. But seldom have such sentiments been so generally and sincerely demonstrated on a communitywide scale as in the case of Mr. Holt. Obviously, a large measure of the impression he has made upon the hearts and minds of Marion residents comes from something more than community service, even though the value of that service cannot be appraised too highly.

That something undoubtedly is found in his fine character, his wholesome and inspiring philosophy of life, and ability to impart the influence of his philosophy to others.

How Would You Have Said It?

THE question raised by Gen. Eisenhower's statement that he is "not available for and could not accept nomination to high political office" is whether or not he has taken himself out of the presidential picture.

We think he has—not right away, but after a few weeks have elapsed. When his potential backers grasp the implications of his statement, they'll see the light. He has taken not only himself out of the picture, but them too. He also has taken Gen. MacArthur out of it.

From the standpoint of loopholes, the first thing to look for in any statement about political intentions, Gen. Eisenhower has lined up a solid front.

He had thought his previous unqualified denial of political ambition would eliminate him from consideration. It didn't. So he has taken no chances this time.

The presidency, he says, should be bestowed on men who have "inner compulsions" and "special qualifications" to enter the political arena. He lacks these.

He believes nominations should be bestowed on men who want them. He doesn't.

He believes military power should be subordinated to civil power; that professional soldiers should abstain from seeking high political office. He is a professional soldier. He will be available for military duty at any time. But he is not available for political duty.

If there be any conceivable loophole, it might be Gen. Eisenhower's use of one phrase in this statement: "It is my conviction that the necessary and wise subordination of the military to civil power will be best sustained, and our people will have greater confidence that it is so sustained when lifelong professional soldiers in the absence of some obvious and over-riding reasons, abstain from seeking high political office."

Gen. Eisenhower sees no such reasons at this time. His statement destroys the possibility he might be a contender for the Republican presidential nomination. It goes further than that and destroys the possibility that politicians might use an outstanding military figure as vote bait next November. Gen. Eisenhower has presented the strongest argument against a military candidate.

His statement marks him as one of the great patriots of his time, a soldier with breadth of vision and depth of perception far beyond the ordinary. In a representative democracy with a strong tradition of civil control, there is great danger in mixing militarism and politics.

The air will not be cleared immediately, politics being what it is—a mixture of speculation, guesswork and opinion But the ultimate effect of Gen. Eisenhower's statement can't be doubted. He has taken himself out of the presidential picture—and he probably has taken Gen. MacArthur with him.

For a Rainy Day

THE government still is selling U.S. savings bonds, although without the publicity of war days. But they are the same good investment. Interest rates are the same, the guarantee on future redemption unchanged.

Every dollar invested in bonds now is a dollar that stays out of circulation, easing inflationary pressure. Every dollar invested now is a dollar that will be available when prices level off. Those fortunate enough to have a cash surplus these days can find no better place to invest it than in savings bonds.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Trygve Lie Finds Way To Protect Undesirables.

THE UNITED NATIONS has come up with a new gimmick. Trygve Lie, its secretary general, has again found a soft spot to extend the extraterritorial rights of the United Nations upon American soil. It is extraterritoriality for the press. The UN assumption apparently is that any person, allegedly assigned to the United Nations as a newspaperman, a reporter or photographer, may enter the United States at will, may remain here at will, may travel all over the country, with or without the consent of the United States.

In the particular cases which focused attention on the new gimmick, one of these so-called journalists came into the country on a student visa: the other asserted his profession. Both were admittedly Communists. Both sought to remain in the United States indefinitely and contrary to the wishes of the American government because they had established a press relationship with the United Nations.

SOKOLSKY

Neither limited his relationship to the United Nations. Both lived in quarters situated in the United States; purchased their needs in the United States; found their amusements in this country, and moved about it with freedom as though the American government welcomed their presence. But they were not wanted. Actually the American government tried to evacuate them.

Extraterritoriality is a vicious device that readily lends itself to abuse. Just before I arrived in Shanghai, a number of prostitutes lived there on Soochow road. They were American girls, recruited principally in the Middle West. They lived in China under extraterritoriality; that meant that no Chinese authority could do anything about their presence there, and apparently no American authority objected to the flag of this country flying over and protecting brothels. Finally, an American district attorney, Arthur Bassett, who was sent to the scene, ordered the flags removed and threatened the girls with the law. Many of them then married, for limited purposes, beachcombers of varying nationalities with the object of regaining extraterritorial rights. It was not extraordinary for Chinese and denationalized persons to purchase protection from European and Latin American consular agents who sold extraterritorial rights, making a fortune thereby.

Law Breakers Protected

Opium and cocaine smugglers, of whom there were a considerable number profited by this practice, the Chinese authorities having no control over them in their own country.

The United Nations is empowered to manage its own affairs, and by treaty and act of congress the right of access is provided those who have business with it. But no treaty exists and no act of congress exists granting those who have business with the United Nations similar privileges within the United States. Let them go to the United Nations and stay there! If the United Nations has no room for them or is unwilling to provide for them, that still does not entitle such persons free occupation of American soil.

The United States has not abrogated its sovereignty in favor of the United Nations nor has congress transferred to Mr. Lie or his associates the administration of our immigration laws.

In the case of Mather et al vs. Cunningham (1909) Judge Spear stated: "* * * the ownership of the soil, therefore, controls the establishment of all local laws. Without consent of the owner, no extraterritorial law can be enacted within an independent jurisdiction, or extended to it * * *"

Judge's Ruling

Referring to the operation of extraterritoriality, Judge Spear said:

" * * * whatever laws may have been extended by congress to Shanghai are operative, not upon American soil, but upon the territory of the Chinese empire. How do these laws reach there? By treaty, permission of the emperor."

This pertinent reference applies fully to the United Nations extraterritorial privileges. They can only exist, outside the narrow area designated to that body in New York, by consent of the owner of the soil adjacent to it, namely, the legislature of the state of New York. The United Nations can not legislate for the state of New York and Trygve Lie can not determine who is to live in that state. Nor can he legislate for the United States; that function is for congress. Nor does he control immigration into the United States. This country must be tought about it or we shall have the scum of the world entering our country on diplomatic passports.

A Rowing Machine Politician?

Bernarr Macfadden has announced his candidacy for the governorship of Florida.

Macfadden? Macfadden is a big bicep and magazine man from the west . . . a sort of combination Henry Luce and Charles Atlas.

His announcement states that he is going to base his campaign "on the health-building possibilities of the state." Which means, I suppose, that he will make his appeal for votes, not from the stump, but from a horizontal bar.

Mr. Macfadden should make a colorful campaigner. What other candidate ever opened his meetings with a few setting-up exercises?

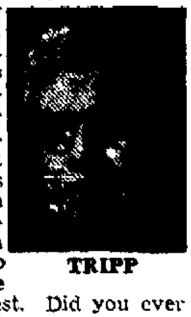
Still, it will undeniably be a novelty . . . a politician with muscles in his arms rather than in his head.

"I Don't Want To Die"

By Frank Tripp

A LADY with a kindly, trembling voice that denoted very old age called me and said: "They won't kill me, will they? I don't want to die." She was not demented. She just misunderstood something she read—about killing people legally.

It was a news story which told that hundreds of reputable doctors favor a law which would make mercy killings of hopeless sufferers permissible under certain conditions.



TRIPP

Who hasn't sometimes thought such procedure humane? Yet when we come face to face with it we meet a severe test. Did you ever face it close to home?

No book ever made deeper impression on me than "Sorrell and Son." Its conclusion is the mercy killing of a wonderful father by his devoted doctor son It is fiction but, as related, the tragic climax becomes a realistic professional act of supreme affection.

Perhaps "Sorrell and Son" stands out in my memory because it came to me the week my own father died. I was with him. After 85 years of perfect health his sturdy old machine wore out. In six weeks he was gone.

His incurable affliction was old age—as beautiful old age as any human ever experienced. But the transition was as severe as it was sudden and made the ending hard to bear.

I thought I had seen people die, but found I never had. I was just present when they died. You've got to die a little with someone you love to even imagine what death is.

"Can't we do something about it?" I asked the nurse. She shook her head. She had known my father since she was a little girl. She loved him, too, and we were weeping together.

"He isn't suffering," she said. "Oh, he must be," I replied. "It won't be long now," she added. But it was, and every minute tore my heart out.

I think, perhaps, on the spur of those awful moments, if I had known how, I might have become a Sorrell's son. I wondered if in real life any son ever did what then seemed to be the last kindness I could do my dad. When, it was all over I shuddered at my thoughts.

So I could talk quite patiently with the old lady who phoned me. She had not slept since she read the recommendation of the doctors. Unable to comprehend its scope, she feared for her life.

Perhaps it was hallucination or perhaps she knows someone who wants her out of the way. Maybe it is even her own son or daughter. Such things happen.

The incident emphasized how objectively we can talk about other people's lives. We do it all the time. We tell what we would do if we were so and so.

Newspapers know, when they hear from someone about something, that others feel the same way about it, sometimes great numbers. Chances are my nice old lady is one of many who share her fears

She seemed to get little comfort out of my explanation. She didn't grasp what the doctors specify. That to put a human out of his misery he must desire it himself. More than that his mental competence to request his dispatch must be established and disinterested medical authorities must prove to the courts that his condition warrants the request.

He couldn't commit suicide that way. Nor could those who would be rid of him use mercy killing as means to their end. There would have to be diabolical collusion among so many people, who could have nothing but real mercy in their hearts, that miscarriage of the law would be impossible.

When all hope is gone there would seem to be merciful justice in the right of a sufferer to be freed from his torment. After all, it is his own life and the right to review and veto his request, if irrational, is retained by society.

Men who work over the doomed, and see ministrations and effect of opiates diminish until only terror remains, make their plea in behalf of tortured thousands of humanity.

With it all, my old lady's words, which she said again and again, keep coming back to challenge favorable reaction to the doctors' proposal.

"The Lord giveth, and only the Lord can take away," she repeated over and over again.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Monday, Jan. 24, 1938.

George White of Marietta returned to Ohio's political front with the announcement he would be candidate in the August primary for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator.

Double funeral services were held in the U B. church at Bloomfield, O., for Mrs. Charles W. Seckel of North State street, Marion, and her grandfather, Franklin Welsh of Asheville, whose deaths occurred the preceding Saturday.

Directors of the New Hotel company were reelected in the annual meeting of the stockholders held at Hotel Harding. They were Frank A. Huber, J. T. Caulfield, Bennett Bindley, George Frank, J. Malcolm Stielitz, Millard Hunt, Ray R. King, C. B. King, and Morgan E. Burke.

L. A. Axe was reelected president in the annual meeting of the Marion Auto club held at Hotel Marion.

A son, Carl Eugene, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Moury of Jefferson street

Officers, headed by Earl Bacon as premus, were elected at a meeting of the Phalanx fraternity, in the clubroom at the Y M.C.A.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Tuesday, Jan. 24, 1928.

S. W. Almendinger was elected president of the Marion county board of education and J. K. Rogers, vice president. C. B. Rayburn, county superintendent, was clerk.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Taylor of Davids street.

Dale Rhoads, county dog warden, reported satisfactory progress had been made by deputies named by him to take a dog census of the county, starting Monday. H. W. Monnette, in the northeast section of the city, made the highest report of the day, listing 56 dogs.

Steward K. Todd, 57, of Salem, O., was killed and his wife seriously injured in an automobile accident six miles east of Marion. They were on their way here to visit their son, R. A. Todd, vocational instructor at Harding High school.

Miss Marion Bush was hostess to the Delta Game-a Bridge club at her home on Ellis court. Guests of the club were Misses Marion and George Van Kleeck and Dorothy Stark.

"Not Peace, Not War"

By Raymond Moley

JOHN FOSTER DULLES points out with great clarity the fact that the more Americans can understand the Soviet's policy of "Not peace, not war," the more adequately we can prevent war. This advice of Dulles, it would seem, is a vastly more potent means of preventing war than either the bellicose boasting of men like William C. Bullitt or the banal braying of Henry Wallace

Dulles has seen more of Soviet foreign policy than any of the three secretaries of state with whom he has cooperated since the war ended in Europe. He has attended seven international conferences with the Russians. And he has now, after thinking it all over, decided that American policy should also be "not war."

MOLEY

It is difficult for Americans to comprehend the "not peace, not war" policy of the Soviet leaders. We like to think of eras as our history books describe them—war followed by peace, followed by war, and so forth. For Americans, war is a time for all-out effort—the whole people fighting as one. Our tradition of peace is somnolent indifference to foreign danger, during which we develop our country, make money, enjoy ourselves and let our army and navy rust away.

But we are not going to have that kind of peace for many years, perhaps not in this generation and certainly not while the present regime of Communists rule Russia. That is because war-talk without war is vitally essential to the political ascendency of Communism. And that is why Vishinsky harped so on "war mongering." That is also why people over here who talk about a preventive war are playing into the hands of the Soviet.

The Russian government rules the army and is nationalistic. The Communist party is internationalist and rules a far-flung net of propaganda and sabotage. It deals in discord. It thrives on poverty and distress. And as it can claim gains abroad, it gains more severe power in Russia.

If Henry Wallace's dream of friendship should be accepted by Soviet leaders, the ground beneath them would disintegrate. The dictatorship is retained on the pretext that the capitalist world is a threat and that it is warlike.

In the years immediately after the first World War, belligerent statesmen like Winston Churchill did much to entrench Stalin and others like him in power. For there were not only Churchill's hostile words, but shooting attacks by Russians like Kolchak and Denikin and by the Poles under Pilsudsky. The result was Russian submission in the rule of strange men, and the nation put its nose into the Soviet halter.

Dulles spells out an alternative to both the mailed fist and the limp hand of trust. The Marshall plan is only a prelude and part of that alternative.

Dulles' Policy

The Dulles policy would proceed on the assumption that war is not probable and can be avoided, although he would presumably keep our armed services strong. It would decry talk of war on our side, because that directly strengthens the Soviet ruler in their own country. It would keep up talking relations with the Soviet at special conferences and at the UN Some useful agreements can be found. But our course should be deeds, not words After a while, Dulles believes, if we frustrate penetration and sabotage, the Soviet leaders may abandon those tactics. Then and not until then can real peace-making begin

This policy of resolutely accepting strife within a general pattern of "no war" seems to be our destiny, and Dulles has stated it better than has anyone else

The Aviation City

The U. S. Air Forces' Air Materiel Command continues to be Dayton's biggest business.

Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, AMC chief, said that Dayton's army air fields employ 19,000 persons. He termed their $64,000,000 annual payroll the biggest in Dayton.

McNarney estimated Wright and Patterson field employes have $50,000,000 in cash after deduction of income taxes. The fields spend another $500,000 each year for maintenance materials

McNarney emphasized the importance of AMC in saying "security can be had, but only at a price." However, he added, "at any price security is cheap if it prevents another Pearl Harbor.

"We cannot ignore that, in 1944, Russia produced 40,000 aircraft in her own factories. She is said today to maintain some 14,000 aircraft in first-line outfits"

Hardening Teeth

A new method for use of sodium fluoride to cut tooth decay by an estimated 50 per cent is revealed by Dr. Basil G. Bibby, director of the Eastman Dental Dispensary at Rochester, N. Y.

Dr Bibby said the sodium fluoride was mixed with distilled water and applied to the surface of the teeth.

"Apparently the fluoride is absorbed through the surface of the teeth and hardens the calcium phosphate of the tooth's enamel," he explained.

Tests performed on portions of childrens dentures showed 40 percent less decay in treated teeth than on non-treated areas. Dr. Bibby said. The dentist added that although best results were obtained with children between 10 and 13 years of age, the process also worked "favorably" on adults.

Daily Bible Thought

If we are charitable in our thought we will not be venomous in our words, we will then speak nothing we will blush to remember.—Pet. 3:10: "He that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile."

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Twitchells Still at It

The third week of the new Ralph Edward radio mystery, "The Walking Man," found and Mrs. Elmer Twitchell still knee deep guesses. The key verse, "Bing bong bell, it's te and only one can tell; the master of the metropolis fits his name quite well," puzzled them no less than the added cues which consisted of some noises which seemed to be like the neighing of a horse, the cry of some jungle animal and the roar of an airplane.

PHILLIPS

"I still insist that Bing Bong Bell means a big bell like Big Ben, and that the master of a metropolis is money, otherwise known as jack. That makes it Jack Benny," said Elmer.

* * *

"But those footsteps!" snapped the wife. "They are so loud that if it's Benny he must be walking around with a bass violin on each foot. My guess is that the Walking Man is wearing skis and walking across a marble floor in 'em. Who do we know who wears sk indoors?"

"Who do we know who has marble floors?" demanded Elmer.

"The Bing-Bong Bell could be a bell like Bellbuoy or a firebell," mused Mrs. Twitchell.

"Maybe the bell is spelled 'belle'," put Elmer. "Bing Bong is a sound produced by striking heavily. I have it. The Walking Man bea his wife. That explains those weird cries at th end of the program."

"He must also beat a horse," sneered the wife.

"Bing Bong Belle could mean a big belle, striking woman, a beautiful dame," went o Elmer.

"But it's a walking man, not a walking woman we are after," said the wife.

"All we got to figure out is what walking man is married to or associated with a beautiful woman, a Bing Bong Bell," argued Elmer.

"Something tells me we are off the beam," insisted Mrs. Twitchell. "Whoever the walking man is he is walking across that radio script on skis or snowshoes"

"Don't forget the horse cue. The guy could be walking on horse shoes," said Elmer. "If we could only think of some man who wears horseshoes and is the master of the metropolis"

"The big cue could be in that master of the metropolis line." said the wife. "What is the master of any metropolis?.. Commerce!"

"But we don't know anybody named Commerce," moaned Elmer.

Suddenly his face lit up

"I get it. Trade is the master of a metropolis The Walking Man is one of the Smith Brothers The one named Trade."

"O KK., but what about Bing Bong Bell?"

"That's the other brother, Mark. He's a ringer for the other guy, get it?"

"How does that line 'It's ten and only one can tell' come in?" demanded Mrs. Twitchell.

"There could of been ten Smith brothers, couldn't there?"

"What about there being only one that can tell?"

"The other nine have such colds they can't talk maybe," moaned Elmer.

Not Ripe Yet

By TRUMAN TWILL

It will still be legal in Ohio to give a baby manicure, thanks to the forbearers of professional cosmetologists who were playing with the idea of lobbying for a law to prevent one member of a family from giving another member beauty treatments without a license. When they came to the point of decision, fortunately they said n and went back to business.

That was good news. It saved the cosmetologists from curling their own hair and it deprived a lot of other assorted professionals of encouragement for their own pet notions about rigging the circumstances of everyday life against the ordinary guy and his missus who cherish the right to do things for themselves.

The householder who owns a boxful of beat-up carpenter tools and likes to make ordinary repairs on his own castle, the lady of the house who cherishes the right to use a paint brush she feels like it, and the amateur musicians who get a kick out of making music for fun are little safer The cosmetologists aren't the on professionals in this country who've dreamed sewing up all the business for themselves.

We don't want to be hard on them, because they're fine people performing the indispensable service of making females more beautiful. But when they dreamed about invading the sanctity of the American home they had hold of something that would have been a lot harder to handle than gabby females who broadcast all the dirt that's not fit to tell under their hair dryers. They're to be congratulated for thinking twice.

It takes eternal vigilance to keep the musclers-in on personal liberty at bay. The fight for freedom is an endless series of relatively unimportant skirmishes whose outcome adds up to victory or defeat. It takes patience to keep fighting back, the kind of patience that made the Pilgrims sit tight during New England winters, that planted the Bill of Rights in the Constitution that still makes patriots bristle in the face of authority and tell it to go fly a kite the nar way if authority gets too cocky.

Perhaps some day this country will be ripe for professionals who want to take care of everything that needs to be done—their way But won't happen while the people are still jealous of their rights and while other people who think up cute ideas for muscling in on those rights still have enough sense to back off when they get too close to the fire. If this ever changes then the country will be ripe for surrender to professionals who want to monopolize everything in their fields. It will be more than ripe It'll be rotten.

Faulkner, pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church, has announced that he will attend the various denominational meetings of the Evangelical United Brethren church, part of the Ohio Pastors' convention at Columbus next week, in addition to the general convention sessions. He will be present for a luncheon of pastors of his denomination Monday, its Board of Christian Education meeting Tuesday, conference Youth Fellowship session Wednesday, and Linwood Curriculum committee meeting Thursday.

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist Sunday. It will have for the Golden Text: "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" (II Timothy 2:15).

Officers of the Christian Youth Fellowship of Central Christian church will direct the morning service of worship tomorrow. Included are Alma Harrold, Bill McGrew, and Erma Morse. Rev. Eldred Johnston, pastor, will preach a special sermon. The annual Youth week dinner will be held at the church at 5:30 p. m. Guest speaker will be Rev. Frederick Leech, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church.

GREEN CAMP REVIVAL SERVICES TO START SUNDAY

REV. G. WALTER WEBER

REV. ALBERT HOOD

A special two-week evangelistic campaign will get under way Sunday in the Green Camp Baptist church. Services will be held nightly, except Saturdays, beginning at 7:45 p. m.

Rev. G. Walter Weber, pastor of the Goodyear Heights Baptist Church, Akron, will bring the messages. Rev. Weber, a graduate of the Eastern Theological seminary in Pennsylvania, has done work devoted especially to young people, in camps and assemblies.

Rev. Albert Hood, pastor of the Second Pilgrim Holiness church, Marion, will be the evangelistic singer. He will lead the congregational singing and play accordion solos.

January 27 and Feb. 5 have been set aside in the meetings as special "Youth Nights."

Rev. Weber and Rev. Hood will be in charge beginning Monday. On Sunday night the evangelistic message will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. Lester R. Kidd. Dr. W Neil Price will lead the congregational singing.

HEAD REVIVAL SERVICES

REV. AND MRS. JOHN DORSEY of Winchester, O., (above) will open revival services at First Wesleyan Methodist church on Silver street Monday night. They have been engaged as evangelist and singer respectively for these meetings. Services will be each night at 7:30 through Feb. 8, Rev. Eldon Martin, pastor, announced.

GALION SCOUT HEAD NAMES COMMITTEES

GALION, Jan. 24—Galion Boy Scout leaders backed their new chairman, Eric Brooke, by both attendance and enthusiasm shown at the Galion Scout District Committee meeting Thursday night. Twenty-one Scouters were present for the session held at Senior High school.

Brooke named the following chairmen to serve under his leadership: leadership and organization, E. R. Pickering; activities and camping, R. T. Campbell; advancement, G. A. Berting; health and safety, Dr. B. P. Mansfield; finance, Jack Gay; publicity, C. L. Alles.

M. A. Povenmire who resigned his position as vice chairman of the committee, was given a vote of thanks in appreciation for his work with Boy Scouts in Galion. The vacancy was filled with the election of R. T. Campbell to the vice chairmanship.

Time was spent planning the Scoutorama to feature Boy Scout Week, and to be held Feb. 9 and 10 at First Methodist church. Displays of Boy Scout work, and acts to demonstrate Scouting, will be given. A banquet for Scouts, parents and all persons interested in Scouting was set for Feb. 26.

Epworth Circle No. 2 Meets at Alexander Home

Circle No. 2 of the W. S. C. S. of Epworth Methodist church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. C. Alexander of 497 Cherry street with Mrs. J. C. Scheifler serving as assistant hostess. A song by the group opened the meeting and during roll call, 114 sick calls were reported. Mrs. W. J. Langdon read a poem and Mrs. Alexander distributed and explained the pledge cards. An announcement was made that $25 had been raised to be sent to Dr. and Mrs. Hollister, missionaries in China. For the program, Mrs. A. W. Kette and Mrs. Walter Shealey conducted devotions, a paper, "The Church in South America," was presented by Mrs. R. J. Kauble, and another paper, "A Visit to Mexico," was given by Mrs. F. S. Thomas. Group singing and prayer by Mrs. Kette closed the meeting.

Granges Hold Joint Meeting at Richwood

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD — The Jackson Grange was host to the Pomona Grange Wednesday night with the master, Robert Mather, presiding.

Members were present from the following Granges: Leesburg, Liberty, Claiborne and Jackson. It was voted to give $15 to the March of Dimes fund.

Thurman Skidmore, county deputy, was present and announced that Joan Cramer, a member of the Claiborne Grange, had won fourth place in the national essay contest on "Safety." Several farm problems were discussed.

Heads Wyandot Co. Red Cross Drive

UPPER SANDUSKY — Cyrus H. Sears, of Harpster, has been named Fund Campaign Chairman for the annual Red Cross membership drive to start March 1. Mr. Sears will announce the appointment of captains and solicitors for the door to door canvass in the near future.

The tentative schedule for the campaign calls for the completion of the solicitation by March 15. The quota has been increased to $5,420 for Wyandot county to cover a national share of $3,795 and a local budget of $1,625. The increase in the quota, said Mr. Sears, is due to the heavy cost of many recent disasters and the increasing costs of home services.

C. & O. Reports Income Increase of $7 Million

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 24 — The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co. yesterday reported a net income of $35,387,327 for 1947 compared with $28,372,066 in the previous year.

In an income statement, the road said these figures represented $4.44 per share on common stock for last year and $3.55 in 1946. The figures were calculated on the number of shares outstanding after merger of C. & O. and Pere Marquette.

Small House Plan Includes 10 Closets to Assure Ample Storage

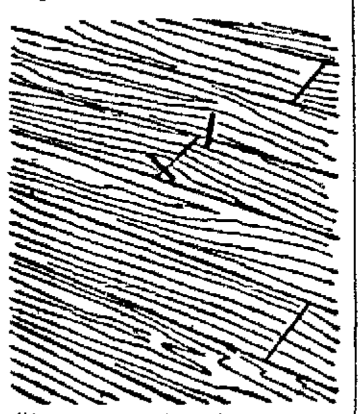
YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

Floor Repairs and How To Stop Creaking

There has been a great shortage of good floor material, and as a result the floors of the average low or middle-cost house may not be all that the owner would like to have them. Much of the trouble with these floors is the result of fast work in an effort to spend as little labor as possible in getting them down. Floors of this type usually shrink so that the joints are quite wide instead of being close. They usually creak when walked upon, and frequently "spring" so that the butts or ends curl up slightly.

As all floors are laid by a method called "blind-nailing" which means that the nails are driven into the side of one strip before the next is laid against it, the only remedy left to the owner is to renail through the surface. If this is done intelligently, you can stop the floor-creaking and pull the butts back into place quite easily.



The first step is to test the floor surface and mark the spots where it creaks under your weight. When you locate a spot, drive a nail at an angle through the floor and into the rough flooring beneath. Never drive the nail straight up and down, but set it in at a good angle as illustrated. Where an end has sprung up, drive two nails as shown, keeping back from the end at least one inch so as not to cause a split. If a split occurs, draw out the nail because it will be worthless, and nail at another point. If you are able to get them, use "cut" nails, as they have four sharp, rough corners and hold better than wire nails. If you cannot get cut nails, try to get rough galvanized nails about two inches long.

All nail heads should be sunk and the holes filled before you refinish the floor. Shellac is probably the best finish for a floor which you have had trouble with and it will flow into the joints and set up hard, thus helping to quiet and bind the strips.

Many small modern homes have floors of random-width boards which apparently are secured by pegs or dowels, but only one out of 10,000 will really be pegged or doweled. The pegs you see are merely small inserts of wood which cover the screw or nail which has been driven in at that point. These inserts can be chiseled out, and the screw tightened or the nail redriven at another angle. New inserts can be made from a stick of dowel-wood the proper diameter.

Parquet floors can be renailed with small wire nails, but great care must be taken not to split the very hard wood of which they are made. If the nails are run over a piece of soap before they are set in, they will drive much more easily.

Mrs. Brady Hostess To Francis Willard Union

The Frances Willard Union of the W.C.T.U. met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jemima Brady on South High street. Mrs. Myrtle Peterman conducted devotions by reading the second chapter of Habakkuk and the 94th Psalm, after which several prayers were given. Guests were Mrs. Clara Brady of the Anna Gordon Union and Mrs. Esterbrook of Pennsylvania, who gave a short talk on W.C.T.U. work in her home state. Prayer by Mrs. Lula Sutherland closed the meeting. An all-day meeting will be held Wednesday, Jan. 28, at the home of Mrs. Bell Donaugh of 430 Ballentine avenue, and the next regular meeting will be Feb. 18 with Mrs. Glenna Armbruster of 271 Homer street.

KEEP HEAT INSIDE

To prevent the escape of heat, amounting to almost 21 per cent, all cracks in exterior walls should be caulked at points where siding meets foundation, roof and window frames.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Smoke from Chimney

Q: The home we bought a year ago has one chimney. I have a garbage kitchen stove leading to the chimney, and in our front room we have a heater leading to the same chimney. Whenever I go to put coal or wood in the heater, all the smoke pours back in my front room. What can be the matter?

A: I doubt if your chimney has more than one flue. In your case, each heating unit kills the draft of the other one, even if one is not actually in use. One or the other of the heaters should be connected to another chimney.

Brightening Up a Basement

Q: How could I paint my basement to make it look cheery and bright? And what is the best thing to use when enclosing a basement ceiling? What color should it be painted to make it light? We have cement block walls.

A: The right kind of paint to use is a cement base paint containing a damp-proofer, sold by dealers in mason supplies. Ordinary oil paint would fail. The cement paint can be had in colors as well as white; you can make your selection of colors at the time you buy the paint. Use pastel colors; most of them will give best light reflection. Do not use dark browns or other dark colors. The ceiling can be covered either with a gypsum wall board or an insulating board. The space above the furnace could have an asbestos sheet as a safeguard against a possible fire hazard.

Leaking "T-Joint"

Q. I have a slow drip in a T-joint of my hot water copper tubing. It has been suggested to me to wrap the joint with adhesive tape and then shellac, also to wrap it with cloth and then paint it. Would either of these suggestions work?

A. Wrapping the joint in tire tape might be better, but you should try to have the leak fixed by a plumber. At best, the tape or cloth idea will be quite temporary.

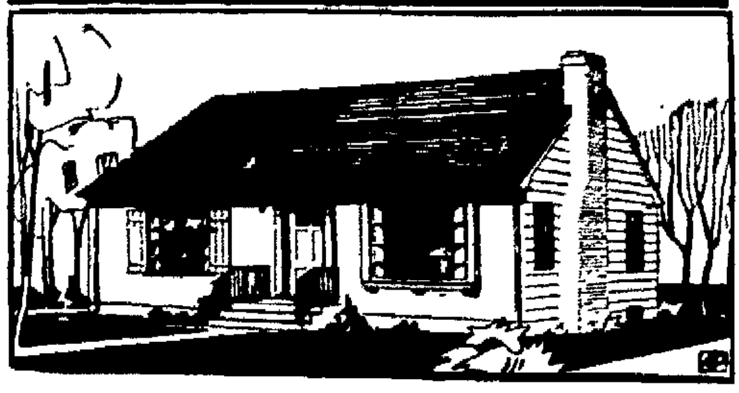
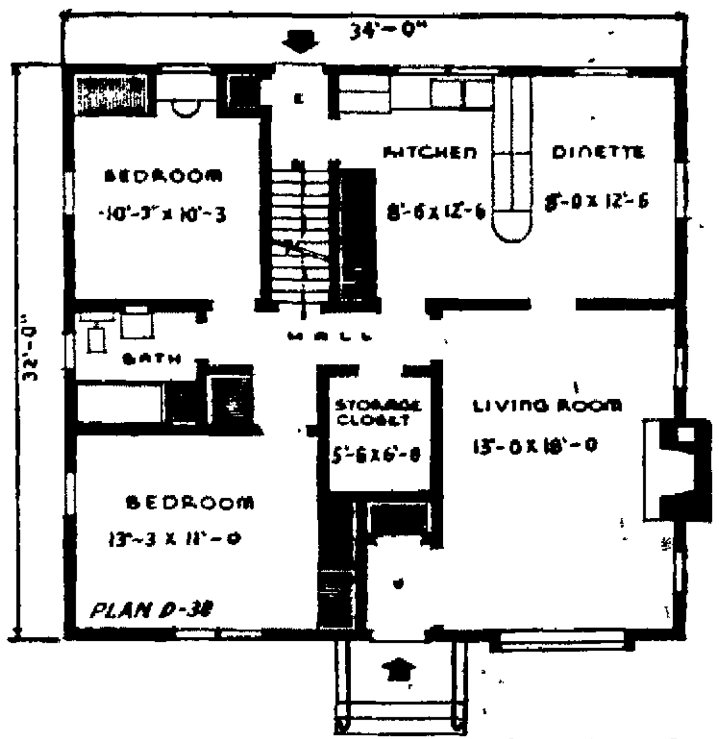
CIRCLE NO. 5 MEETS

Members of Circle No. 5 of the W. S. C. S. of Epworth Methodist church were guests of Mrs. R. E. McCormick of Mary street, Thursday afternoon. Mrs. LeRoy Childs, Mrs. Jay Eberly, Mrs. Enos Irey and Mrs. C. N. Briggs were welcomed as new members and guests were Mrs. Stanley Thompson and Janice Eberly. Mrs. John H. Clark was in charge of the program hour. Mrs. McCormick was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Don Phelps and the social committee.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS





Ten closets in a small home feature this design D-30 by the Small House Planning Bureau, registered architects of St. Cloud, Minn. The plan was worked out as an answer to the demand for ample storage space in dwellings limited in size by modern building costs.

A storage room forms the core of the room layout. Both front and rear entries have coat closets. The front bedroom has twin wardrobes (shaded on this plan). The rear bedroom's wardrobe includes a built-in desk or dressing table. There is a linen closet in the bathroom with a larger storage place adjacent to it in the hall. Two large cabinet closets are provided in the kitchen.

"The storage of sewing machine, vacuum cleaner and extra chairs is a common problem," the architects explain.

A stairway is provided to a large attic which also can be used for storage, or finished off for more rooms.

The house covers an area of 1,088 square feet and contains 24,153 cubic feet, with full basement. Major specifications include a wide siding exterior and a roof of colored asphalt shingles.

PLAN SCOUT WEEK WINDOW DISPLAYS

Merchants To Join in Observance Here Feb. 6-14.

Seventeen Marion merchants and the U. S. Army recruiting station are coopertaing with the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Boy Scouts to make Boy Scout Week, Feb. 6 to 14, a community event. The merchants and the recruiters have notified the Jaycees of their desire to donate window space for the exhibit of Scout projects.

The themes selected for the Scout projects to be displayed are scoutcraft, conservation, hobbies, Cub projects and air and Sea Scout activities. The displays will be prepared by Scouts of both the Cub and senior divisions and several have been three to four months in the making.

Scout units have been assigned the windows which they will use for their displays, and the prizes and tropies to be awarded the winners have been selected by the judging committee. There will be separate judging for each division of scouting. The Scouts participating are under the direction of Owen Meddles, Scout field executive, and Hugh F. Hay, Scout executive

CLOSE FIREPLACE

When not in use, all vents in fireplaces should be closed to keep heat form escaping up the chimney.

BURNER ADJUSTMENT

In an oil or gas heating plant, fuel is wasted if the fuel is not mixed properly with air. A heating contractor should be called to see that the right mixture is taking place.

To Make Reservations For Prospect Minstrels

Seat reservations for the minstrel show to be given Feb. 10 and 11 by a home talent cast in the school auditorium at Prospect, will open Monday at the Osborn drug store in Prospect. The show, which is an annual affair, is being sponsored by the Lions club and the Prospect P.-T.A. and is under the direction of Harold Compton, music director in the school.

There still are a few tickets left for the entertainment, the sponsors announce.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

I CHUCKLED at Mary's question, and she gave me a sudden, comprehending grin.

"You don't need to answer that one," she said. "Ah, kin answer hit mah own self."

"Knowing the Philip Veritzens, I imagine you can," I said glancing involuntarily at Mr. "K." seated near the door. But he already was on his feet.

"Just a second," he said. "I can guard you ladies just as effectually outside this door as inside it, and you certainly don't need me to sit in on this conversation. Just give four short knocks on the door, or, rather, have Dicky give them, when you want me, and don't let him open the door until I have given the signal we agreed upon for the guards. I wish you a very good two minutes—isn't that the time upon which we agreed?"

He did not wait for an answer, but went to the outside door, stepped to one side of it, pulled it open the length of the night chain, peered out, then, with a satisfied nod, undid the night chain, and went through the door.

"Please put this up again," he said, just as he closed it. I obeyed him, and went back to Mary.

"He should have some sort of a medal for being the world's most tactful gent," she said flippantly. "But get on with your yarn. We've less than two minutes now."

"You hit the well-known nail on the head," I told her with a smile. "Olga decided things, and Phil voiced the decision as his own, in perfect good faith."

Then I hurried through the story of Olga's compliance with my father's request, told of the care with which Mr. "K." had engineered our journey through the corridors, and of the precautions which my father was taking in putting guards over our apartment, and that of the Philip Veritzens. Then I rose, knowing that my time was almost up, with an affectionate smile at Mary and Katharine which I tried to keep free from anxiety.

"I don't need to ask you to be careful about opening the doors," I told them.

"Just ease our mind on that point," Katharine said. "Let it function on the subject of your taking a few ganders at caution. If we're in danger, will you tell me 'who's holding the umbrella over Mitchell?'"

I grinned at the reference to the pugilistic classic, and threw them a "comforter."

"Remember I have two cavaliers," I said, "Dicky and Mr. 'K.' 'What they wants me to know and do they tells me. I don't have to read no newspapers.'"

They laughed at the parody of the backwoods woman's remark during the campaign for woman suffrage, and I kissed them both warmly.

"Don't forget Father's sending the armored cars," I reminded them.

"That in itself shows the danger," Katharine said. "It must be something drastic."

"Connected with Georges," I imagine," I told them. "And now, I really must go."

"My punctual spouse!" Dicky said, coming into the room through the door which led to Faiths bedroom. "You'll be glad to know that our darling is fast asleep. So long, you two ladies-in-waiting upon the little princess! We'll be seeing you, in a few hours—you can cat nap until I return with the latest news—and Madge tomorrow night, we hope, we hope. She may succumb to the charms of the royal playboy and decide to let him have a shoulder upon which to weep."

"Dicky!" I expostulated with mirth and anger competing for mastery.

"You heard me the first time," my exasperating husband told me. Then he put his hand beneath my elbow, and pressed it affectionately.

"Let's go!" he said. "But, where's 'K'?"

"Just outside the door," I told him. "He said we didn't need him for a private talk, but asked me to ask you to give four short knocks on the door when we were ready to leave, and to wait for the signal upon which we agreed, before we open the door."

"Okay!" he said. "Here goes!" and gave four short knocks upon the door.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

If Child Has Abdominal Pain

When a child suffers an attack of abdominal pain, the doctor should be called at once.

Such an attack may indicate a grave emergency in which speed is of the greatest importance. For instance, one of the most common causes of such pain is appendicitis.

This condition is more difficult to diagnose early in a child than in a grownup, but early diagnosis is important because appendicitis progresses much more rapidly in a child, and the appendix is likely to rupture much sooner than in an adult. Immediate operation, therefore, is essential in almost all instances in which a diagnosis of acute appendicitis is made in a youngster.

In attempting to determine the cause of pain in the abdomen, the character of the pain sometimes gives useful information.

The pain of appendicitis at first is spread over the abdomen or around the umbilicus and later is localized in the right lower part. It does not remain constant; that is, it either gets better or worse.

The pain from blocking or obstruction of the bowel comes in periodic attacks. The pain is collcky and may be accompanied by vomiting. Generalized collcky pain, with diarrhea and sickness at the stomach, may indicate some bowel inflammation.

In most cases of abdominal pain, fever is not present. In acute abdominal disorders, the fever appears after several days and may be due to peritonitis or inflammation of the lining of the abdominal cavity. Early fever, with abdominal pain, may indicate some infectious disease, such as severe sore throat.

Constipation is an occasional cause of pain in the abdomen.

There is a condition known as intussusception which occurs in younger children. In this disorder, there is a sort of telescoping of the bowel which, of course, blocks the opening through the bowel. This may produce severe attacks of abdominal pain, together with blood in the bowel movements, and vomiting.

An unusual cause of pain in the abdomen is a spider bite. Not only is there pain, but rigidity or stiffness of the muscles of the abdominal wall.

When pain in the abdomen occurs in a youngster, a thorough examination by a physician is necessary at once. Often, it may be necessary to put the child in the hospital until a definite diagnosis is made and the proper treatment carried out.

Questions and Answers

E. B.: I have had what is known as "lymphadenitis" of the left leg for years. My leg swells a great deal of the time. Is there a cure?

Answer: Lymphadenitis merely means inflammation of the lymph glands. I do not believe that such an inflammation, in itself, would cause continuous swelling of the leg.

An examination should be made by your physician to determine whether or not some type of circulatory disorder has produced the swelling; then the proper treatment can be decided upon.

Home Nursing Class To Open at Martel

A class in home nursing will be opened Tuesday afternoon at the Martel High school under sponsorship of the Marion County Chapter of the American Red Cross, it was announced today by Miss Lillian Plack, executive secretary of the chapter.

Women interested in learning the proper care of persons ill in the home are invited to enroll in the class, which will open at 2 p. m. A 24-hour course will be given and at the close the students will receive certificates from the National Red Cross.

Miss Rita Hut, public health nurse on the staff of the Marion County health department, will be instructor. She is a registered nurse and an authorized Red Cross instructor.

Grotto Social Program To Open Monday Night

The first of a series of social and entertainment activities to be held by Kadgar Grotto is scheduled for Monday night at the Legion Dugout. Planned by the officers, a program featuring games, music, entertainment and a Dutch lunch will start at 8 o'clock.

The program will include a film shown under auspices of the local Army recruiting officers. An effort is being made to obtain a color and sound film showing the Bikini atomic bomb test and the aspects of universal training.

The program is one of a wide and varied schedule of activities planned by the recently-installed officers headed by Wilbur C. Morehouse, monarch. Serving with Mr. Morehouse are Clifford B. Welch, secretary, Carl O. Jordan, chief justice, Melvin Winters, master of ceremonies, L. L. Lawrence, treasurer, Raymond Beatty, marshal Merril Hendel captain of the guard and Ben Eddy sentinel.

Know your banker better — let him know you
Through this medium also you acquire the ability to control expenditures and know positively to whom and when money has been paid. Many temptations to spend without thought are avoided and the desire to maintain a larger and larger balance is increased. Analysis of your records are also helpful to your banker in forming an opinion of your financial worthiness.
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
Perhaps you are planning now for an important business step; or, you may be unaware of an opportunity that may be presented in the near future. To whom will you turn for advice and extra money, if needed? Banks are maintained for that purpose but bankers cannot take risks without knowing with whom they are dealing. To be prepared, start now. Do your banking business here—we can learn to know you, and you us through the constant contact of:
CHECKING ACCOUNTS
Besides building yourself a cushion for unexpected expenses, worthwhile investments and comfortable old age you learn the discipline and regularity of payments which will stand you in good position for taking on large obligations which your banker will be more willing to arrange.

Performers will be Dorothy Kirsten and Eugene Conley.

The attraction Thursday through Saturday will be "It Had To Be You" starring Ginger Rogers and Cornel Wilde.

A romantic comedy production, the film tells the story of a society girl who flirts with marriage four different times with four different millionaires but never goes through with it. Just prior to her fourth attempted marriage, she decides to spend a month away from him. On her way back, after convincing herself that he's the right man, an Indian, played by Cornel Wilde, attempts to dissuade her from marrying the stuffed shirt. He explains to her that he is the dream counterpart of the man she is destined to marry. Then her real-life lover turns out to be Johnny Blaine, also played by Wilde, a fireman, who literally sweeps her off her feet in the midst of her fourth wedding ceremony.

Romantic Comedy Booked at Ohio

A lively romantic comedy, "Always Together," co-starring Joyce Reynolds and Robert Hutton, is now playing through Monday at the Ohio theater.

The story in the film is of a miserly old millionaire who, thinking he is about to die, orders his attorney to locate a Jane Barker and give her a million dollars without her knowing from whom it came. Miss Barker, played by Joyce Reynolds, in love with a struggling young writer, Donn, played by Robert Hutton, decides not to tell him of the money gift. When Donn get shis first check for a story, he and Jane get married.

The millionaire, after giving the money, surprises everyone by not dying and then decides he wants his money back that he had given away. So he moves in next door to the newlyweds, still bent on getting his money back, and causes trouble between the young couple.

Starting Tuesday for seven days will be a dramatic film, "The Tender Years," starring Joe E. Brown in the top role.

In this, his first serious screen role and his first picture in five years, Joe E. Brown plays a small-town Protestant minister whose existence is filled with drama and excitement when he sets out single-handed to right a wrong which the town has accepted for many years. Woven into the drama is a story of the relationship between a father and son, and of how, together, they find common ground in fighting an important battle.

In the outstanding cast in addition to Brown are Josephine Hutchinson, who plays the part of Brown's wife, Richard Lyon, Noreen Nash, Charles Drake, James Millican and Griff Barnett.

Bob Hope Stars In Marion Picture

"Where There's Life" starring Bob Hope with Signe Hasso, William Bendix and George Coulouris, aod "Smart Politics" starring Freddie Stewart and June Preisser with Frankie Darro, Warren Mills, Noel Neill, Donald MacBride and Gene Krupa and his orchestra will be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the Marion theater.

In the former, Bob Hope is seen as a disk jockey who becomes involved in a number of adventures. His troubles come about because he is mistaken for the son of the King of Barovia which country is about to be taken over by other people. The latter picture tells what a group of young people do when an unscrupulous poltician tries to gain control over an empty warehouse which they, junior college students, want for a youth center.

Wednesday and Thursday, the billing will be "The Daring Young Man" and "More Than a Secretary."

Joe E. Brown, the star in the former picture, is cast in his familiar role of a shy, good-natured, witless goof who determines to build himself up by bowling and finds that he is soon mixed up with a tin-horn gambler and a ring of foreign agents. Starred in the latter film are Jean Arthur and George Brent. A comedy-drama, it tells of a prim operator of a business school who is forced by circumstances to take a job as a private secretary to an editor of a health magazine who is, himself, a violent health addict.

Co-starring Boris Karloff with Ralph Byrd in an exciting melodrama, "Dick Tracy Meets Gruesome" will be the featured attraction of a double feature Friday and Saturday.

Completing the billing will be "Law of the Canyon."

Delaware Dam Area School To Continue

DELAWARE, Jan. 24 — The Norton district board of education announced this week its intention of continuing operation of district school through 1949.

The school serves the rural district in northern Delaware county in which a large portion of the Delaware flood control dam area lies. Possibility that the school might close after the current term because of requests for farm transfers to other districts was indicated by the board.

Board members were informed by the Delaware county school board Wednesday night that as yet no transfer petitions had been filed with the county group.

Judge Ruzzo To Speak At Caledonia Tuesday

Edward J. Ruzzo, judge of the juvenile court, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Community club of Caledonia Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the Caledonia High school. His subject will be "Juvenile Delinquency." Anyone is invited to attend the meeting. Preceding the meeting, a supper, sponosored by the members of the senior class of the school, will be served beginning at 5:30. Proceeds from the supper will go into a special fund of the class.

CIRCLE NO. 12 MEETS

Mrs. L. L. Lamborn was a guest when Circle 12 of the W.S.C.S. of Epworth Methodist church met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Harold Ulsh of 228 Thew avenue. Eleven members responded to roll call and 15 calls were reported. Mrs. Fred Warner, in charge of devotions, read the fifth chapter of Galatians. Mrs. R. E. Acker, program chairman, gave a story, "No Talent," taken from the Christian Advocate. The next meeting will be Feb. 26 with Mrs. E. J. Schoenlaub of 714 Mt. Vernon avenue.

LARRY PARKS AND ELLEN DREW are the starring players in "The Swordsman," the romantic adventure of life and love in the Scottish Highlands during the days of the 18th Century. The film will be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the Palace theater.

C. M. WILSON PLANS OPENING OF STORE

Remodels Mill St. Building for Furniture Business.

Clyde M. Wilson of Bucyrus, widely known in Marion and vicinity through his association with F. E. Williams in the auction business, announced today that he will open a retail furniture store at 136 Mill street.

He purchased the Mill street location from Mr. Williams on Jan. 15 and is now engaged in remodeling the two-story building. Showroom for furniture and appliances is expected to be ready for opening within three weeks, Mr. Wilson said.

The new retail store will be managed by George Sakel of Perth Amboy, N. J., in partnership with Wilson, who operates furniture and auction houses in both Bucyrus and Newark.

Mr. Williams will continue in partnership with Wilson in their auction business set up here two years ago, with Mr. Williams devoting full time to handling auction work.

ASHLAND WHIPS HARDING; ST. MARY BLASTS RICHWOOD

Deceptive A's Hand Prexies Their Sixth Setback, 58-37

By BILL MURPHY

Marion Harding's off-and-on basketball quint was off last night in their basketball scrap with the title-seeking Taylor-Tots of Ashland, as the versatile Captain Messner and his deceptive teammates proceeded with a well planned offense that netted them 58 points to 37 for the Prexies.

Dick Messner led his team in their fast-breaking style of play with 19 points, and executed plays with such rapidity that they were sometimes hard to follow.

Dick Riddle best solved the zone defense put up by the A's for the Presidents as he poured 14 counters through the meshes, getting eight on field goals and six by the charity route. Center Jim Coss was next best for the Prexies with 10 hard earned markers which he managed to hammer in when he wasn't busy playing a bang-up defensive game.

Again on the A's side, Dave Burns, playing opposite Messner at his forward position, was a menace to the Harding cagers as he hit with a regularity that was discouraging in compiling 16 tallies for the winners.

Have Tough Time

At times it seemed that the Harding courtmen just couldn't buy a basket, as their shots dished in and out of the hoop, tittered and tottered and fell off the edge, and sometimes completely missed the mark. But, although the Prexies had a tough night of it, they can feel sure they won't meet a better ball club this season.

Dick Riddle opened the scoring as the game got underway, drawing first blood for the Harding hoopsters a couple of minutes after the starting jump. Dick Messner then got a two-pointer for the A's, and they were never headed again as the quarter ended in their favor, 12-9.

Burns opened for Ashland in the second quarter with a foul and Messner quickly followed with a take-in shot, before Thomas hit on a long one for the Prexies. Ashland continued to get a little the better of it in that frame and the teams went to the dressing rooms at half time with the A's leading by 10 points, 18-28.

Take Time Out

As the third frame began, Dick Thomas potted a long shot from mid-court, but Messner was successful on a foul throw and Burns dropped two deuces and Messner flipped another field goal before Harding could call time out. Harding finished the period with six gift shots, while Ashland grabbed six points on three field goals to end the three-quarter mark, 41-28.

In the final quarter the teams alternated in scoring, but the Presidents were getting their's via the free throw line while the A's pitched for double-or-nothing and collected 17 points, Messner ending the game with a brace of two-pointers.

For the Jayvees Merle Daum and Tom Taylor split scoring honors, each getting 10 counters as second stringers led the young A's 22-19 at the half, and 41-43 at the final whistle.

BACK in 1923-24 a couple of buddies graduated from Harding High school and set out on careers that were markedly similar. They were Wesley Griffin and Dell Noble. Both were athletes, both entered Bliss college in Columbus, then a teacher's college.

Griffin was an end on Harding's football team and a guard on the cage squad, while Noble leaned to independent teams. After graduation, both played for the Marathon A. C. basketball team and for the Dick Bruun Bears baseball club before entering college.

At Bliss, Griffin became an outstanding cager, and after graduation stayed on there as athletic director and assistant to the president. Noble spent most of his time on the bench as a sub, at Bliss transferred to Ohio State and after graduation there took up coaching—at Cardington, Adelphi, Kenton, and Mt. Gilead high schools, and in Tiffin university and Oberlin School of Commerce.

This fall, Noble organized the Mt. Gilead Nite college, not as a friend suggested, to be able to coach a basketball team, but as a business school. Coach a squad he did, however, and one that has played a tough 15-game schedule to date, meeting foes such as Wilberforce State, Ohio State Jayvees, and a branch college of Ohio university . . . Tonight, for the first time, the paths of Coach Noble and Coach Griffin cross. Noble's Nite college will entertain Griffin's Bliss college on the Mt. Gilead basketball court in a tilt both call the "big game" of the season.

TRIS LAUDS TRIBE'S SHORTCUT TO SECOND

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 24 — Old-timers Tris Speaker and Jack Graney today lauded Lou Boudreau's search for a "shortcut to second base" — but they believe when the Cleveland pilot finds that path, it will bear the spike marks of baseball immortals Ty Cobb and Eddie Collins.

There also may be a few turf scratches left from the flying feet of Speaker, Graney and other old-time base runners on the "shortcut," they agreed.

Boudreau, who initiated the famed "starboard shift" against Ted Williams in 1946, plans to train the Indians to run in a wide arc toward first base on potential doubles, eliminating the usual arc between first and second.

Speaker and Graney insisted, however, that the runner's arc between home plate and first base should be a "button-hook" path, instead of a wide arc. The "hook should come, they added, about 10 feet from the initial sack.

"If you run from home to second you must make a loop somewhere, and it should come on the way to first," said Tris, "the Indians don't hit first base with their left foot."

"When I ran the bases, I started my loop about 10 feet before reaching first," he continued, and swung a little outside the three-foot interference line, and then threw my left foot inside the bag and drove my weight off that foot. That put me in a straight line for second base, which is what Boudreau wants. Cobb and Collins and all the other great baserunners followed this pattern."

Graney heartily agreed with Speaker, and declared:

"The present-day ball players know what to do, all right. But very few make that button-hook turn. They do what Boudreau says—run straight to first and then swing wide on their way to second."

Waldo Legion Takes Bird-McGinnis, 52-36

The Porter-Snyder American Legion Post basketball team of Waldo won over the Bird-McGinnis quintet for the second time last night as the two teams played a return game on the Armory floor. Porter-Snyder emerged on top by 52-36 in a rough and tumble fray with Carrol Conklon and Jim Ward dividing 28 points equally in pacing the winners. Williams was top man for the Marion Legion with a 12 point total.

The Waldo team is seeking more games with Marion opponents.

Prospect, LaRue, Claridon, Green Camp Win Co. Tilts

With the three leading teams idle, activity in the county basketball league last night was confined to battles for better positions in the lower brackets, and there were several shifts in the standings.

LaRue kicked Kirkpatrick from sixth to eighth place, Prospect moved up from fifth to sixth place, sending Waldo down a peg, and Green Camp left Martel alone in the cellar. Though defeating New Bloomington, Claridon slipped to seventh place as the other teams earned better percentages.

Prospect surprised Waldo, 43-28, on the Prospect hardwoods as big Ralph Long went on a one-man scoring spree worth 24 points. Retterer led the losers with nine. The Waldo Reserves won, 17-14.

LaRue continued on their current rampage, downing Kirkpatrick, 57-31, to move into a fourth-place tie in the county league with idle Meeker. Harold Brocklesby set a red hot pace for the winners, thrilling the home fans with 27 points. He made good on 13 of 18 attempts from the floor. Burke Ballenger, out of the LaRue lineup earlier in the season with a broken ankle, meshed 10 for LaRue, while Jones paced Kirk with 13. The Kirkpatrick reserves won, 31-16.

Green Camp finally ended their eight-game victory drought in blasting Martel, 49-33, on the home court. Between them, Weston and Roettger collected 26 points for the winners while Rhinebolt led Martel with 17. Tied up 17-all at the half, the Green Campers let loose in the final two quarters to win. The Martel Reserves won, 32-28.

Claridon defeated New Bloomington on the loser's court, 40-27, pulling ahead after a close first half. Irey meshed 15 for the winners. The Claridon Reserves made it a clean sweep, 25-11.

Wonder Why Rickey Began Managing Baseball Clubs?

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio Associated Press
Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 24 — Did you ever wonder why Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, turned to the managerial and executive end of baseball after a brief career as a player?

Rickey explained last night as he addressed some 300 minor league executives at a banquet winding up the first annual rules interpretation and discussion conference of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

"The first day I appeared at the plate as a major leaguer," Rickey said, "left-handed Rube Waddell was pitching against us. I was a left-handed batter, so you know what happened. The next day Cy Young was on the mound against us, and Cy was 'fast' that day. That's when I started looking toward the executive side of the sport."

The "Mahatma's" talk was autobiographical, and at the finish he said: "I am proud I picked baseball as my vocation. If I had my life to live over I would again pick baseball. I am proud of it."

There isn't much difference in the talent making up the 16 major league clubs, Rickey said, the big difference being in the mental attitude of the athletes.

"If you can get together a team who believe individually that 'it is good for me to be here,' then you will win ball games. Such players have desire, and that mystifying devotion to the game that sets them apart."

Other speakers included Cy Young, now 81, who won 511 games as a major leaguer, and Mayor Jim Rohdes of Columbus, national president of the A.A.U.

Cy recalled that in 1884 he drove 80 miles behind a pair of ponies to pitch a ball game, and was back home plowing the next morning. He never had a sore arm, he said, for "All I had to do in the spring was loosen up my arm and I was ready to go."

Rhodes suggested that all baseball donate one cent from each paid admission into a fund to provide balls, bats and playing facilities for kids now denied those privileges.

"Last year such a plan would have realized $620,000," Rhodes said, "and it would be pretty cheap insurance for baseball."

Fremont St. Joseph Edges Carey, 54-52

2 LAST-SECOND WINS MARK COLLEGE PLAY

Tennessee Drops Wilberforce; Geneva Dumps Muskingum.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 24—Three seconds before the final horn, and with the scored tied, 46-all, forward Clarence Wilson of Tennessee State crouched in midcourt and let go with a desperation shot at the distant basket as Wilberforce State guards leaped vainly.

The timer was reaching for his horn as the ball swished through the webbing, giving the visting Tennesseans a 48-46 victory and the closest finish of the Ohio season last night.

Wilson's shot topped in drama even the winning two-pointer marked up by sub center George Harr of Geneva, Pa., college, who pushed in the winning field goal with just 22 seconds to go, for a 61-59 win over Muskingum.

The Muskies of Muskingum were ahead, 59-58, and apparently in control of the situation when Harr came through with his fielder. Forward Cable of the visting team then added a free throw for good measure.

Wittenberg triumphed, 64-54, in a tough Ohio conference game with Denison, which featured the rapid-fire scoring of sub center Bill Henderson.

Hiram counted a 47-43 victory over Thiel college of Greenville, Pa., only because the Pennsylvanians blew a comfortable early lead. Guard Dick Selgo put 23 points through the net in pacing Baldwin-Wallace over Case Tech, 59-37.

Sharpshooter Newt Oliver of Rio Grande did his usual fine job against Oakland City, even though the Indiana team ran away with the ball game, 79-62. Oliver netted 24 points.

Indians Have High Hopes for New Rookie

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 24 — The Cleveland Indians, whose Dale Mitchell leaped from the Tribe's Oklahoma City farm club to become one of 1947's top rookies, today hoped newly signed Al Rosen would duplicate Mitchell's feat in 1948.

Tagged by Tribe President Bill Veeck as "Cleveland's most promising rookie since Bob Feller," Rosen followed in Mitchell's footsteps last year at Oklahoma City by clubbing his way to the Texas league batting championship.

The third base prospect yesterday became the 15th player to sign with the Cleveland club and promptly declared he was confident he would hit American league pitching nearly as hard and often as he clubbed the Texas brand

Hot Irish Overwhelm Tigers For the Second Time, 63-25

The St. Mary Fighting Irish went on a scoring spree last night and overwhelmed the Richwood Tigers, 63-25, on the Richwood court.

The Irish outscored and outplayed the Richwood quintet in every quarter. In an earlier contest with the Tigers, the Irish won, 53-26.

St. Mary got off to a good start in the first period, outscoring Richwood 19-3. Every Irish starter scored, with John Baldauf leading with seven points. Richwood's points came as the result of a basket by Les Wall and a charity toss by Lyons.

The Irish cooled off a little in the second frame but Richwood did not capitalize on the chance and trailed 30-11 at the half. Baldauf and Dick Schuler each scored a basket, Dick Drake three two-pointers and Bob Stuber a free throw to account for the St. Mary scoring. Taylor chalked up three baskets and Wall one for the Richwood tallies.

Score Most in 3rd

The Irish recorded their biggest scoring total in the third quarter, pushing throug 17 markers. The Tigers also had their big quarter then, swishing 11. At the three quarter mark, the Marion team was ahead, 47-22.

The fourth stanza was mostly a contest between the second teams as both Coach Fetters, Gene of the Irish and Dick of Richwood, elected to send in the subs. Jim Moloney at center paced the Irish in that period with eight points.

St. Mary showed vast improvement in their foul shooting, dropping in 20 out of 23, while Richwood meshed only seven out of 17 trips to the foul line.

The St. Mary reserves fell, 33-28, in a close contest. It was their second loss of the season. Bill Merchant led the Irish with 14 points while Shields paced the winners with 15.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton jr

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 — Baseball should vote some sort of long and meritorious service award to Ira Hutchinson of the Columbus Red Birds, according to Jim Enright, the rotund Chicago Herald-American writer .... During the 1947 American Association season, Enright explains, Ira appeared in 63 games, winning seven and losing three in his "fireman" role .... In the time he could spare from the bull pen, Hutchinson coached, served as acting road secretary and gave the trainer a lift with his clubhouse chores. ... Ira, who pitched for four major league clubs, is "resting" this winter at his Chicago home—that is he's only working as a welder during the day and devoting his nights to serving as secretary of the Pitch and Hit club, which will toss its first banquet next week.

DRIVER FINED $50

James Scott McClaskey of 480 Van Buren street was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail in municipal court yesterday by acting Judge Don Williamson on a charge of having physical control of a motor vehicle while intoxicated. The jail sentence was suspended. McClaskey was arrested on Jan. 17 and was released under $125 bond. He then appeared in court on Jan. 19 and entered a plea of not guilty, but changed his plea to guilty yesterday.

PLEASE LET ME PAY YOU AND THANK YOU FOR YOUR KINDNESS TO CAPTAIN DICK AND ANNIE WHEN THEY WERE PENNILESS AND FRIENDLESS—
I'D SCORN TO TOUCH A PENNY—THEY BOTH WORKED THEIR PASSAGE—DICK WAS NEVER TOO PROUD TO WORK FOR HIS ROOM AND BOARD—
AND AS FOR ANNIE—BLESS HER LITTLE HEART—SHE'S WELCOME TO STAY HERE AS MY GUEST AS LONG AS I HAVE A ROOF OVER MY HEAD—

More Candidates File In Crawford County

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—Three names were added to the growing list of candidates who will compete for public favor at the May primaries as the deadline for filing declarations of candidacies approached this week.

Two more candidates entered the race for county commissioner, one in each party. Walter Sargel, Polk township dairy farmer, will be a candidate for another term, subject to the Democratic primary, and Wilbur H. Magers, a Republican newcomer, living south of Crestline, has indicated his intention of being a candidate. Magers is a partner in the Roxy restaurant at Crestline.

Opposition to Mae Kloepfer, Democratic candidate for county treasurer, will be T. Clinton Kless, native of Whetstone township and former associate of both the Second National and the Farmers and Citizens bank. For the last four years he has been employed at the U. S. Army depot at Shelby. He lives in Bucyrus.

C. & O. Asks To Issue Equipment Certificates

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 — The Chesapeake & Ohio railway yesterday applied to the interstate commerce commission, for authority to issue $4,900,000 of equipment trust certificates, to be dated Feb. 15, 1948.

Funds from sale of the certificates will be used toward purchase of certain new equipment estimated to cost $6,157,122. Included in the proposed purchase are 1,000 hopper cars, 500 gondola cars and six Diesel-electric switching locomotives.

ON ELECTION BOARD

BUCYRUS—Luther T. Kinnett was elected representative to the county board of elections when the Crawford County Democratic Executive Committee met in city council chambers Wednesday night. He will replace A. H. Weis of New Washington for the four-year term. Morris Knisely of North Robinson is the other Democratic representative on the board.
